Icy Gale Causes Death of 17 New Yorkers and Sets New Cold Record

Four Deaths Due to Cold, Six to High Winds and Seven Perish at Sea

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—With 17 deaths in the wake of the ice-tipped gale which ripped thru New York and vicinity, warmer weather was predicted for late today or tomorrow.

The 68-mile wind clipped off street signs, raged over seacraft and lifted pedestrians off their feet. Four of the deaths were due to the cold, six were killed in automobile accidents caused by high wind, and seven perished at sea.

The temperature rose this morning a few points from yesterday's mark of 17. The wind slacked perceptibly. The thermometer was at a record breaking low mark, however, for this time of the year, the weather bureau announced.

The thermometer stood at 19 at seven o'clock this morning.

Six fishermen and the captain of the sloop Frolic, missing since Sunday were believed to be victims of the storm.

The body of Levi S. J. Place, 52, of Rahway, N. J., was found in a field. He had been frozen to death.

INVESTIGATE BURNING OF PASTOR'S WIFE

Columbus Authorities Doubt Minister's Story of Wife's Suicide in Furnace

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18.—Suicide did not figure in the death of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, 50, who was burned to death in the furnace at her home here, according to the belief of county authorities who began an investigation today to determine how the woman came to be in the furnace.

Aided by the county prosecutor, Franklin-co, Coroner Murphy and his assistants went to the Sheatsley home to inspect the furnace and the remains. He said the theory that Mrs. Sheatley, the wife of the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, Bexley, crawled into the fire, was highly improbable.

Rev. Sheatsley, who was first to learn that his wife had been burned to death, supported the theory of suicide. He said his wife was a nervous person and that he had

Wittenberg Gets Recognition of College Ass'n

The Rev. M. W. Wappner, pastor of the Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, today called attention to the fact that Wittenberg college at Springfield has been granted official recognition by the Association of American Universities, which places it upon a par with the best universities of the nation.

Only 20 per cent of all colleges have been granted such recognition. Twenty five per cent of the members of Wittenberg's entire faculty are listed in "Who's Who in America," a record said to be equalled by few colleges of any size in the country.

GRANGES GIVE ATTENTION TO RURAL SCHOOL

Blue Ridge to Devote Nearly Entire Meeting Nov. 20 to Discussion of Problems

Indicating that the questions of rural school administration and the financing of the rural schools of the county are receiving considerable thot among the citizens of the rural sections of the county, several granges of the county have in the past few weeks, and are in the near future planning to devote their literary hours to discussion of the most vital problems pertaining to rural education.

At the next regular meeting of Blue Ridge Grange, at Orange, Thursday evening, November 20, a dozen rural school questions will be discussed by members of the Blue Ridge order. The program of the meeting follows:

"Do You Believe the State Director of Education and the County School Board Should Have the Power to Place the Extra Three Mill Levy Against a Taxing District That Has Voted It Down?" led by Sol Lapp.

"Should the Law Requiring the Transportation of High School Pupils Be Repealed?" led by Raymond Richmond.

"Should the Teachers' Pension Law Be Repealed?" led by Mrs. Raymond Richmond.

"Would the Election of County Superintendent of Schools, by the

Rotarians Hear Explanation of Protecting Law

Between thirteen and fourteen million dollars were paid out by the state of Ohio into the homes of injured or dead laborers, from the state workingmen's compensation fund, according to T. J. Duffy, head of the Ohio Industrial Commission, who made a short talk before the Rotary Club at its regular meeting Tuesday noon.

Duffy reviewed the conditions existing in the industries of the state, relative to employe's protection, prior to the time the compensation act went into effect in 1914, and then told of the good it had accomplished since. The law, he pointed out, is compulsatory, requiring every employer in the state to protect his workmen by means of compensation when they are disabled, in the performance of their duties.

There is two methods which the employer may choose in doing this, he said. He may either agree to pay all claims direct, or he may pay regular fees to the state, similar to insurance premiumms, and then allow the state to take care of all claims. The insurance method, he said, is most popular.

Stiff Penalty for Christmas Booze Sellers

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—Its going to be a "dry Christmas, in Cleveland this year if Bootleggers heed the warning Chief Justice Dempsey of the municipal court passed out today.

Caught with five gallons of "Christmas liquor" in their possession, Robert Home and George Kohe were each fined $1,000 and sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse by the Judge.

Following the sentence Judge Dempsey issued the warning that all Christmas "cheer" dispensers would be treated likewise.

IS DISMISSED

NURSES' HOME NOW HOUSING STAFF OF 14

Will Be Thrown Open for Public Inspection when Remainder of Furniture Is in

CAN ACCOMMODATE 17

New Children's Ward, Maternity Ward and Nursery to Be Open at Same Time

The new nurses' home at the City Hospital is now in use. The home is not yet entirely furnished, but otherwise it is ready for occupancy. When the remainder of the furniture arrives the nurses' home will be open to the public for inspection and a general invitation will be given to all to call on the day named.

At the same time that the nurses' home is open to the public the new children's ward, furnished by the Coshocton Kiwanis Club, the new maternity ward furnished by Holy Name Society of Sacred Heart Church and the new nursery, will also be open for inspection. These are recent additions to the hospital and will prove of unusual interest to visitors.

The front living room in the new nurses' home has been furnished by the Women's Auxiliary of the City Hospital with a portion of the money secured on Tag Day. The other living room is being furnished by the citizens of West Lafayette with money raised by popular subscription.

With the removal of the nurses from the hospital to the nurses home there will be room for ten additional patients in the hospital and suitable living quarters for other employees of the institution.

The nurses home has single rooms for 17 nurses—14 of these rooms are now being occupied with the present resident staff of seven student nurses, six graduate nurses and the superintendent, Miss E. F. Erlandson.

Mother of Mrs. Wangen Dies at Home in Chicago

Mrs. Theodore Wangen, 950 Orange-st, who has been in Chicago for the past week, announced today the death of her mother, Mrs. Henry Olsen, who died at her home in Chicago, Monday evening.

Her death was due to cancer following an illness of ten days. She was 79 years of age.

Emelie Harriet Blomquist was born on January 7, 1846 in Tromso, Norway and emigrated to the United States and settled in Chicago in 1864, where she had resided until death.

She was married to Henry Olsen on January 7, 1866. There were nine children born to this union. The husband and six children have preceded her to the grave.

Mrs. Olsen was affiliated with the M. E. church for more than 60 years. She was one of the organizers and for 25 years president of the Lady Board of Managers of the Norwegian Old People's Home in Chicago, which was one of her chief charity works.

Since her husband's death in May, 1921, she had been principal stockholder and an active director of the Olsen and Tilgner Manufacturing Co., builders of paint grinding machinery located in Chicago.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. William C. Meyer and Mrs. Albert H. Dammann, of Chicago and Mrs. Theodore Wangen, of this city, and also seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren, the youngest of whom is Elizabeth Joan, two months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Smith, (Arline Wangen) of 1020 Orange-st.

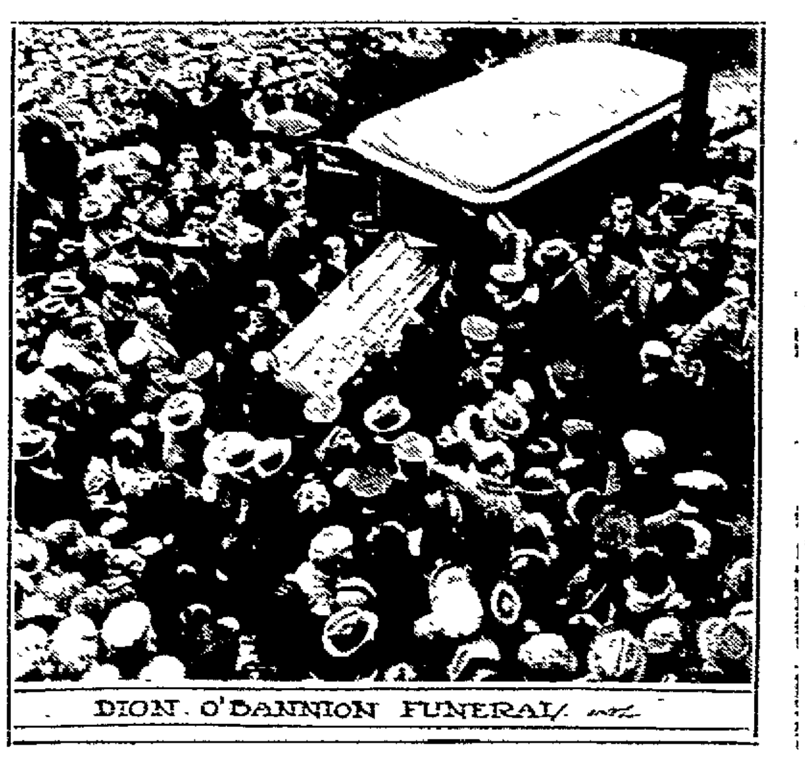
The funeral will be from the late residence in Chicago either Wednesday or Thursday. The date has not yet been decided.

Mr. Wangen and his brother, Chris Wangen left today to attend the funeral.

FITZGERALD OPERATED

DAYTON, O., Nov. 18—Congressman Roy G. Fitzgerald was resting well today at a hospital following an operation, performed yesterday for the removal of gall stones. It was said he may return to his home in a week or ten days.

20,000 AT GUNMAN'S FUNERAL



Chicago gangland paid its final tribute to Dion O'Bannion, its slain leader, with a $50,000 funeral. More than 20,000 persons fought to see the casket removed from the house. Rites of the Catholic church were denied O'Bannion, but he was permitted to be buried in a Catholic cemetery.

City Blanketed in White Tues.

With radiators steaming and tires sliding, Coshocton got its first taste of real winter Monday night and Tuesday.

Snow began to fall Monday evening, and continued intermittently thruout the night, covering the ground with a thin white blanket. It is the first snow of the season to stick. Snow fell for a short time Sunday afternoon, but melted as quickly as it touched the ground.

The temperature dropped one degree lower Monday night that it did Sunday night, reaching 19 above zero, according to George Leonard, official U. S. weather observor.

The sudden cold snap brot with it a demand for alcohol and other radiator solutions to prevent freezing, and quick rush for "heavies."

Some of the more optimistic kiddies even dragged their sleds out and prepared to get a good start on the winter sport, but the snow was hardly heavy enough for that purpose.

The weather forecast predicts more light snowfalls tonight and Wednesday with slightly warmer temperature.

Damage Caused by Jersey Fire Is $1,200,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—One man was burned to death, several vessels were destroyed, damage estimated at $1,200,000 was done by fire at the Sinclair Refining Co., docks at Linden, N. J., it was learned today after a check up. John Kelly of Philadelphia, carpenter on the oil tanker, William Boyce Thompson, told police he saw one man, a pumpman, rolling about the deck of the tanker, enveloped by flames, and is certain he perished.

A check up showed seven others missing but their names were not learned because a list of the crew had been destroyed in the fire.

Kelly was blown from the tanker to the dock.

"I know where the fire started, but I have to keep my mouth shut," police say Kelly told them.

Captain Patrick Vincent, of the tug Edwin Baxter, which was destroyed with the barge and tanker, said he jumped into the water, with seven others. He swam for the New Jersey shore; the others started for Staten Island.

BIRTH NOTE

A son was born to Mr and Mrs. George Mapel, of West Lafayette at the City hospital, Monday night.

TOWNSHIPS HOPE TO GET STATE AID

Following the meeting of township trustees in the common pleas courtoom in the courthouse a few weeks ago, held to obtain information leading to the establishment of a county highways system, the county commissioners, with the information received, selected and designated such a system and ordered the county surveyor to make a map thereof. This map is now being made at the surveyor's office and, according to M. E. Gorsuch, deputy surveyor, it will be completed in a week or ten days.

A copy of this map, when it is finished, will be sent to the director of highways and public works of the state, as is required under the provisions of the Green law, enacted to afford relief to townships by authorizing state aid in constructing roads. It is explained by local business men that no such aid can be obtained unless the map is filed with the state highways director, and it is important that it be completed as quickly as possible.

Each township may receive from $1,000 to $2,000 during any one fiscal year, if the terms of the Green law are complied with, it is shown

Attempt Made to Rob Frazeysburg Store and Depot

Prowlers entered the Pierson hardware store and the Pennsylvania depot in Frazeysburg some time last night or early this morning, but nothing was reported missing.

The rear door of the hardware store and the rear door of the depot were broken open. Tracks of the would-be thieves were seen in the snow this morning.

5 ROAD BIDS ARE OPENED BY CO. BOARD

Kleinknecht Awarded Contract for Grading Roads in Two Townships

CHOOSE DEPOSITORY

Surveyor Ordered to Submit Plans and Estimates for Several Projects

Five bids for the contract for grading Roads 24 and 36, in Bethlehem and Keene-tps, were opened at a meeting of the board of county commissioners Monday, and the contract was awarded to Virgil Kleinknecht at his bid of $366.52, the lowest of the five. The others were—J. P. Kleinknecht, $496.39; C. O. Besst, $473.30; M. A. McConnell, $512.35; Charles Williams, $537.

The county surveyor was ordered to prepare and submit plans and estimates for graveling 74 feet of Road 24, Keene-tp; for gravelling approximately 200 feet of Road 200-A, Keene-tp, on the lands of E. E. Clark; for patching with gravel Road 402, Jefferson-tp; for placing red rock on Road 300-A, in Virginia-tp, for a distance of about 1,000 feet thru the lands of Joseph Slaughter; for placing gravel on Road 102, Keene-tp, for a distance of approximately 500 feet thru the lands of Reamer, and for placing a culvert on this road.

The contract to serve as county depository for county funds, for a period of three years, beginning December 1, 1924, was awarded to the Peoples Banking Company of Coshocton at their bid of two per cent for active and inactive funds on average daily balances. Theirs was the only bid received.

A petition for the abandonment of a road in White Eyes-tp was presented to the board. The road, it is said, starts at the home of George Machwart and runs north to the Little Mill Creek road. December 9 was set as the date for first consideration and December 15, the date of final hearing.

Former Resident of City to Give Radio Program

Mrs. O. Hemler, formerly Miss Opal Tafe, of Coshocton, is scheduled to broadcast the entire program from the Cleveland News radio station, WJAX, this evening, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

For a number of years, Mrs. Hemler made her home in this city where she attended the public schools, and she is well known locally.

Attorney Hopes to Save Warship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—While the great gray hulk of the U. S. S. Washington was being towed slowly to her anchorage off the Virginia coast today there to await the practice gunnery that will send her to the bottom of the Atlantic, Wilton J. Lamert, Washington attorney, made another effort to save the big battleship.

Flanked with aides and law books, Lambert went into the court of appeals of the District of Columbia this morning, asked for a temporary injunction against Secretary of Navy Wilbur that will prevent him from carrying out the plan to sink the Washington

It was virtually the same plea that Lambert made last week before Justice Hitz in district supreme court. Justice Hitz denied the plea and dismissed the case. Lambert's move today was in the nature of an appeal from Hitz's decision. Hitz said the court was without power to intervene.

The lawyer contends that the courts have such power

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 18.—Until the present unfavorable weather conditions abate, the gunery tests against the unfinished hull of the super dreadnaught Washington off the Virginia capes, last of the capital type of ships to be scrapped or sunk in accordance with the arms agreement, will be postponed.

Second Weak District Moves to Place School Levy on Tax Duplicate

Adams-tp Follows Lead of Pike in Circulating Petitions Among the Electors

Petitions were being circulated, Monday and Tuesday, among the electors of Adams-tp by better schools enthusiasts of the township, in the hope of securing the necessary majority of signatures to permit the state director of education to order the three mill levy for school operating expenses placed upon the tax duplicate of Adams-tp.

Adams-tp was one of the five school districts of the county that voted down the three mill levy at the November election. Of the other four districts in which the levy failed to carry—Bethlehem-tp, Crawford-tp, Pike-tp and Tuscarawas-tp—Pike-tp is the only one in which petitions have been circulated. A majority of the electors in Pike-tp signed the petition.

The signing of the petitions by a majority of the electors in these two townships will not yet, however, guarantee the placing of the levy on their tax duplicates. The townships must need state aid over and above the three mill levy, in order for the state director of education to order the levy placed upon the duplicate, after the proposition has been voted down.

BARN BURNS; BOTH DEPTS. FIGHT FIRE

Explosion of Barrel of Oil Makes Firemen's Work Difficult; Loss Small

Both fire trucks were called to the end of West Main-st at 6:40 o'clock Tuesday morning to extinguish a blaze in a barn owned by Elmer Milligan, monument maker.

According to James Tracewell, fire chief, the fire is believed to have been caused by someone throwing a lighted match or cigarette stub on the floor. The interior of the building was burned considerably, but whether the barn was damaged to such an extent as to render it useless was not determined this morning.

A creamery truck belonging to the Cottage Creamery Company on North Third-st had been stored in the barn, but it had been taken out earlier in the morning.

A metal barrel partly filled with oil exploded when it became overheated, and the burning oil made it a little more difficult for the firemen to extinguish.

Chestnut P. T. A. Meeting Draws Overflow Crowd

The meeting of the Chestnut-st Parent-Teachers' Association at the Chestnut-st building Monday evening was one of the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the organization.

Clyde Wells, president, was in an unusually happy mood and much of the "pep" which characterized these meetings is due to his energy and interest. The room in which the meeting was held seated only about half of those in attendance and if the meetings continue on the present scale they will have to be transferred to the high school auditorium.

The features of the evening were an orchestra of first grade pupils, directed by Miss Thyra Wells, an impromptu address by M. D. Custer, outlining portions of his itinerary in Europe, and the excellent music furnished by Leon Loos' five-piece orchestra.

An interesting announcement was made by E. A. Crawford in regard to proposed playground devices on the Chestnut-st campus. While nothing definite was decided upon at the meeting it seemed almost assured that several pieces such as slides, swings, teeters, similar amusements for children will be purchased by popular subscription and installed next spring.

One of the best numbers on the program was a violin duet played by Eugene Gorseline and Francis Hall, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Sauvary. Both the boy violinists showed unusual ability and were generously applauded. Miss Kate McClure, well known vocal soloist, sang with her usual ability and responded to two encores.

Brief addresses were made by Superintendent A. C. Pence and Edgar Marshall, president of the board of education.

Mr. Custer confined his description of his European visit to a narrative of the historic scenes in and about Windsor Castle, including a reference to Thomas Grey and his famous poem, "The Elegy in a Country Churchyard." He also spoke at length on the famous boys' school at Eaton, founded a half century before Columbus crossed the Atlantic and still maintaining the traditions which have made it perhaps the most widely known training school for boys in the world.

At the conclusion of the program the meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee. The audience was divided into a dozen or more groups and coffee and doughnuts were served. On the suggestion of Mrs. Strome a Christmas feature will be developed for the holiday meeting.

FARM WOMEN'S CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY

The Farm Women's club, of Perry-tp, will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Donna Miller, Thursday, November 20. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

PAIR ACCUSED OF MURDERING COP ON TRIAL

Prosecutor Moves to Prevent Jury from Giving Light Sentence to Slayers

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—Prepared to face the alternative of freedom for the alleged slayers of Michael Hahnel, Cleveland Heights policeman, fatally shot as he was taking two men to the police station on a traffic charge, Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton was to go into court today and nolle the third count in the indictments returned against "Red" Holt and Joe Prymas, held for murder. This count charges "deliberate and premeditated murder," and under it a "soft" jury could find the defendants guilty of any offense down to assault and battery.

In order that the alternative may be put squarely up to the juries yet to be selected, the alleged bandit slayers will be tried on courts upon which the only verdicts possible to return will be

LEADERSHIP IN SENATE AT STAKE

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—A free-for-all fight between various factions in the Republican ranks of the senate was brewing today beneath the decorous surface contest for the majority leadership.

The post made vacant thru the death of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, already has attracted four aspirants, whose candidacies were being urged by friends. Other booms have appeared on the horizon and a bitter contest may eventually develop.

The principal contestants at present are Senators Francis E Warren, of Wyoming, senior member of the senate; James W Wadsworth, of New York, an assistant leader for two sessions, Charles Curtis, of Kansas, Republican "whip" for years and James E. Watson, of Indiana, an administration spokesman last session.

President Coolidge, himself, may ultimately be drawn into the combat to avert open hostilities and to insure the selection of a Republican leader, who meets with his approval. The president, of course would not make his choice known by public announcement, but he undoubtedly will drop a quiet hint at the proper time in an effort to decide the contest amicably.

The leadership, which carries with it more influence, politically and legislatively than any other post in congress, normally would go to Senator Warren under the seniority rule, as he is now ending his thirtieth consecutive year in the senate. If he insists on the honor, even the other aspirants admit, he will be given the leadership without a struggle.

On the other hand, reports are current that Warren will waive his seniority rights because of his advanced age—he passed his eightieth birthday recently—and confine his activities to the chairmanship of the appropriations committee. If Warren does step aside the contest will develop a free for all character, and friends of the various aspirants already have begun canvassing the senate membership in an effort to win recruits to their various banners.

Wheat Exports Break Records

CHICAGO, Nov 17 — One hundred and seventy million bushels of wheat will have been exported from the United States by January 1 according to the Sears Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. Even with increased competition from Canada this year, the estimated amount will not be decreased, the Foundation reports.

The largest week of the season ended October 25, with a total export of more than eleven million bushels, not including flour. Combined exports of both wheat and flour for the four months from July to October, inclusive, probably will run close to 115,000,000 bushels.

The phenomenal movement to market this kept prices from showing any runaway tendency, and will mean less pressure over the remaining eight months of the crop year. The amount of wheat remaining to be sold is a more important factor in the outlook than that which has gone into the hopper, according to the report.

Probably 125,000,000 to 140,000,000 bushels more wheat was sent to inspection points this year than last, while the increase in the crop was only 70,000,000 bushels, the Foundation pot lunsot ki Foundation points out. The inference drawn from the report is that there is considerably less wheat on farms than there was at this time last year.

WORLD COURT QUESTION TO BE HELD UP

(By GEORGE R. HOLMES)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — American entrance into the world court at Geneva, strongly recommended by Presidents Harding nad Coolidge, has been projected into the dim and misty future.

Informal conferences between administration leaders have resulted in an agreement, it was learned today, whereby the issue will not be pressed at the approaching short session of congress, and until the fate of the Benes protocol has been settled, it will not be pressed at all.

The Benes protocol, now reposing in the chancellories of member nations awaiting ratification was designed to put "teeth into the world court." It has done so to the extent that it has scared off some the world court's friends in congress.

The protocol provided, briefly, that all matters in international dispute shall be referred to the world court for arbitration and whenever a member nation refuses to submit a question that act shall be regarded by other member nations as an "act of aggression." It is further provided that whenever a member nation refuses to abide by the court's decision in any controversy such an act also shall be regarded as "an act of aggression," and all member nations pledge themselves to enforce the court decree against the recalcitrant one.

This protocol which has been ratified by some but not all of the member nations, is regarded by administration leaders as compulsory arbitration with a vengeance, and under world conditions not even the original friends of the court care to commit American interests to it.

Senator William E. Borah, who will succeed the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge as chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee of the senate said today:

"There will be no haste in even considering the terms of American adherence until the Benes protocol has been passed upon by the member nations. Its ultimate disposition will have a very material bearing on our attitude toward the court."

The Idaho senator said further he did not expect the court to be taken up in the short session of congress. In some quarters it is believed that President Coolidge will make only a passing reference to the whole matter in his forthcoming message.

Under the protocol, as drawn up by the Czecho-Slovakian premier, M. Benes, Japan, might conceivably bring before the court the American immigration issue. If the United States, as a member of the court, should refuse to consent to the court's action on it—as this government most certainly would—then by the very terms of the protocol, the court would be confronted with the duty of declaring this government to be "an aggressor," and should the immigration controversy lead to war, on the same theory, the member nations would be pledged to help Japan.

Call Conference to Cut Terrible Auto Death Toll

22,600 Killed and 678,000 Injured in United States in 1923, Figures Show

WASHINGTON, Nov 17.—In an effort to decrease the appelling loss of life in traffic accidents Secretary of Commerce Hoover has called a national conference on street and highway casualties, to meet in Washington December 15, 16 and 17.

Official statistics show that, in 1923, 22,600 persons were killed, 978,000 injured, and more than $600,000,000 worth of property damage caused by traffic mishaps.

Estimates indicate that 1924 will show even a more terrible casualty list from this source, and Government officials deem it high time to take steps to make the highways of the nation less hazardous.

A number of committees of the National Anti-Accident Organization have held frequent meetings during the past few months and have drafted reports to be submitted to the national conference.

"The request for a national gathering for the purpose of better organization and co-ordination of activities in the reduction of accidents was proposed to me six months ago by a number of national associations interested in this field," Secretary Hoover said.

"In order that a national conference on the subject might function to definite purpose, I appointed eight special committees on different important phases of the problem, the representatives being chosen from all parts of the country and embracing representatives of the police officials, highway and motor vehicle commissioners, insurance companies, safety councils, chambers of commerce, labor unions, automobile associations and various other national groups.

"These committees have a membership of 186 persons and cover the subject of statistics, traffic control, contruction and engineering, city planning and zoning, insurance, education, motor vehicles and public relations."

Reports of the committees will soon be ready for submission. They represent the most exhaustive attempt yet made to get at the causes and remedy for accidents, according to Hoover.

Officials pointed out that should the death rate during the next seven years increase as during the last similar period the annual loss of life would approach the total number of American soldiers killed during the World War. The number of injured is already almost equal to that of the American war-wounded.

HEARING IS HELD

A hearing on th exception to the filing of the count by Lemuel McCaskey, administrator of the estate of Louisa Fair, deceased, was being held in probate court today before Judge Milo C Ely.

Attorney Lloyd S. Leech represented the administrator and Attorney George D Klein the heirs of the decendent.

INVITED TO SHOW

Members of the high school faculty have been accorded invitations by the management of the Sixth Street theatre to attend the film of "Abraham Lincoln," which is being shown at the theatre today.

A synthetic wood, made from sawdust and shavings, with a suitable binder, is said to be tougher and harder than ordinary woods.

MACHINERY DOCTORS HIRED FOR FARMERS

Specialist in Mechanical Ailments Added to State Extension Staff

Responding to the expressed demand of Ohio farmers for instruction in the care and use of farm machinery, the agricultural engineering department at the Ohio State University has added to its staff an extension specialist whose sole job it will be to give such instruction at gatherings out in the state.

Farmers present at engineering lectures and discussion last Farmers' Week at Columbus voted for more agricultural extension on farm machinery troubles and remedies, adjustments, care and repair, purchasing points, hitches and combinations, influences of sizes and types, and the economic phases of good machinery management.

R. D. Barden, a graduate of the State University and with both teaching and sales engineering experience in farm machinery, has been appointed as extension specialist for this work. He now is arranging with county agents for one or two-day extension schools out in the counties. These schools, it is planned, will be as much laboratories for all who attend as demonstrations by the specialist.

The engineering department is preparing for detailed work on plows, harrows, planters, drills, mowers, binders, ensilage cutters, threshers, gas engines tractors, and multiple hitches.

The practice of painting names of towns in large letters on the roofs of railway stations has been suggested, to aid airmen.

Icy Gale Causes Death of 17 New Yorkers and Sets New Cold Record

Four Deaths Due to Cold, Six to High Winds and Seven Perish at Sea

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—With 17 deaths in the wake of the ice-tipped gale which ripped thru New York and vicinity, warmer weather was predicted for late today or tomorrow.

The 68-mile wind clipped off street signs, raged over seacraft and lifted pedestrians off their feet. Four of the deaths were due to the cold, six were killed in automobile accidents caused by high wind, and seven perished at sea.

The temperature rose this morning a few points from yesterday's mark of 17. The wind slacked perceptibly. The thermometer was at a record breaking low mark, however, for this time of the year, the weather bureau announced.

The thermometer stood at 19 at seven o'clock this morning.

Six fishermen and the captain of the sloop Frolic, missing since Sunday were believed to be victims of the storm.

The body of Levi S. J. Place, 52, of Rahway, N. J., was found in a field. He had been frozen to death.

INVESTIGATE BURNING OF PASTOR'S WIFE

Columbus Authorities Doubt Minister's Story of Wife's Suicide in Furnace

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18.—Suicide did not figure in the death of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, 50, who was burned to death in the furnace at her home here, according to the belief of county authorities who began an investigation today to determine how the woman came to be in the furnace.

Aided by the county prosecutor, Franklin-co, Coroner Murphy and his assistants went to the Sheatsley home to inspect the furnace and the remains. He said the theory that Mrs. Sheatley, the wife of the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, Bexley, crawled into the fire, was highly improbable.

Rev. Sheatsley, who was first to learn that his wife had been burned to death, supported the theory of suicide. He said his wife was a nervous person and that he had

Wittenberg Gets Recognition of College Ass'n

The Rev. M. W. Wappner, pastor of the Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, today called attention to the fact that Wittenberg college at Springfield has been granted official recognition by the Association of American Universities, which places it upon a par with the best universities of the nation.

Only 20 per cent of all colleges have been granted such recognition. Twenty five per cent of the members of Wittenberg's entire faculty are listed in "Who's Who in America," a record said to be equalled by few colleges of any size in the country.

GRANGES GIVE ATTENTION TO RURAL SCHOOL

Blue Ridge to Devote Nearly Entire Meeting Nov. 20 to Discussion of Problems

Indicating that the questions of rural school administration and the financing of the rural schools of the county are receiving considerable thot among the citizens of the rural sections of the county, several granges of the county have in the past few weeks, and are in the near future planning to devote their literary hours to discussion of the most vital problems pertaining to rural education.

At the next regular meeting of Blue Ridge Grange, at Orange, Thursday evening, November 20, a dozen rural school questions will be discussed by members of the Blue Ridge order. The program of the meeting follows:

"Do You Believe the State Director of Education and the County School Board Should Have the Power to Place the Extra Three Mill Levy Against a Taxing District That Has Voted It Down?" led by Sol Lapp.

"Should the Law Requiring the Transportation of High School Pupils Be Repealed?" led by Raymond Richmond.

"Should the Teachers' Pension Law Be Repealed?" led by Mrs. Raymond Richmond.

"Would the Election of County Superintendent of Schools, by the

Rotarians Hear Explanation of Protecting Law

Between thirteen and fourteen million dollars were paid out by the state of Ohio into the homes of injured or dead laborers, from the state workingmen's compensation fund, according to T. J. Duffy, head of the Ohio Industrial Commission, who made a short talk before the Rotary Club at its regular meeting Tuesday noon.

Duffy reviewed the conditions existing in the industries of the state, relative to employe's protection, prior to the time the compensation act went into effect in 1914, and then told of the good it had accomplished since. The law, he pointed out, is compulsatory, requiring every employer in the state to protect his workmen by means of compensation when they are disabled, in the performance of their duties.

There is two methods which the employer may choose in doing this, he said. He may either agree to pay all claims direct, or he may pay regular fees to the state, similar to insurance preminmms, and then allow the state to take care of all claims. The insurance method, he said, is most popular.

Stiff Penalty for Christmas Booze Sellers

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—Its going to be a "dry Christmas, in Cleveland this year if Bootleggers heed the warning Chief Justice Dempsey of the municipal court passed out today.

Caught with five gallons of "Christmas liquor" in their possession, Robert Home and George Kohe were each fined $1,000 and sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse by the Judge.

Following the sentence Judge Dempsey issued the warning that all Christmas "cheer" dispensers would be treated likewise.

NURSES' HOME NOW HOUSING STAFF OF 14

Will Be Thrown Open for Public Inspection when Remainder of Furniture Is in

CAN ACCOMMODATE 17

New Children's Ward, Maternity Ward and Nursery to Be Open at Same Time

The new nurses' home at the City Hospital is now in use. The home is not yet entirely furnished, but otherwise it is ready for occupancy. When the remainder of the furniture arrives the nurses' home will be open to the public for inspection and a general invitation will be given to all to call on the day named.

At the same time that the nurses' home is open to the public the new children's ward, furnished by the Coshocton Kiwanis Club, the new maternity ward furnished by Holy Name Society of Sacred Heart Church and the new nursery, will also be open for inspection. These are recent additions to the hospital and will prove of unusual interest to visitors.

The front living room in the new nurses' home has been furnished by the Women's Auxiliary of the City Hospital with a portion of the money secured on Tag Day. The other living room is being furnished by the citizens of West Lafayette with money raised by popular subscription.

With the removal of the nurses from the hospital to the nurses home there will be room for ten additional patients in the hospital and suitable living quarters for other employees of the institution.

The nurses home has single rooms for 17 nurses—14 of these rooms are now being occupied with the present resident staff of seven student nurses, six graduate nurses and the superintendent, Miss E. F. Erlandson.

Mother of Mrs. Wangen Dies at Home in Chicago

Mrs. Theodore Wangen, 350 Orange-st. who has been in Chicago for the past week, announced today the death of her mother, Mrs. Henry Olsen, who died at her home in Chicago, Monday evening.

Her death was due to cancer following an illness of ten days. She was 79 years of age.

Emelie Harriet Blomquist was born on January 7, 1846 in Tromso, Norway and emigrated to the United States and settled in Chicago in 1864, where she had resided until death.

She was married to Henry Olsen on January 7, 1866. There were nine children born to this union. The husband and six children have preceded her to the grave.

Mrs. Olsen was affiliated with the M. E. church for more than 60 years. She was one of the organizers and for 25 years president of the Lady Board of Managers of the Norwegian Old People's Home in Chicago, which was one of her chief charity works.

Since her husband's death in May, 1921, she had been principal stockholder and an active director of the Olsen and Tilgner Manufacturing Co., builders of paint grinding machinery located in Chicago.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. William C. Meyer and Mrs. Albert H. Dammann, of Chicago and Mrs. Theodore Wangen, of this city, and also seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren, the youngest of whom is Elizabeth Joan, two months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Smith, (Arline Wangen) of 1020 Orange-st.

The funeral will be from the late residence in Chicago either Wednesday or Thursday. The date has not yet been decided.

Mr. Wangen and his brother, Chris Wangen left today to attend the funeral.

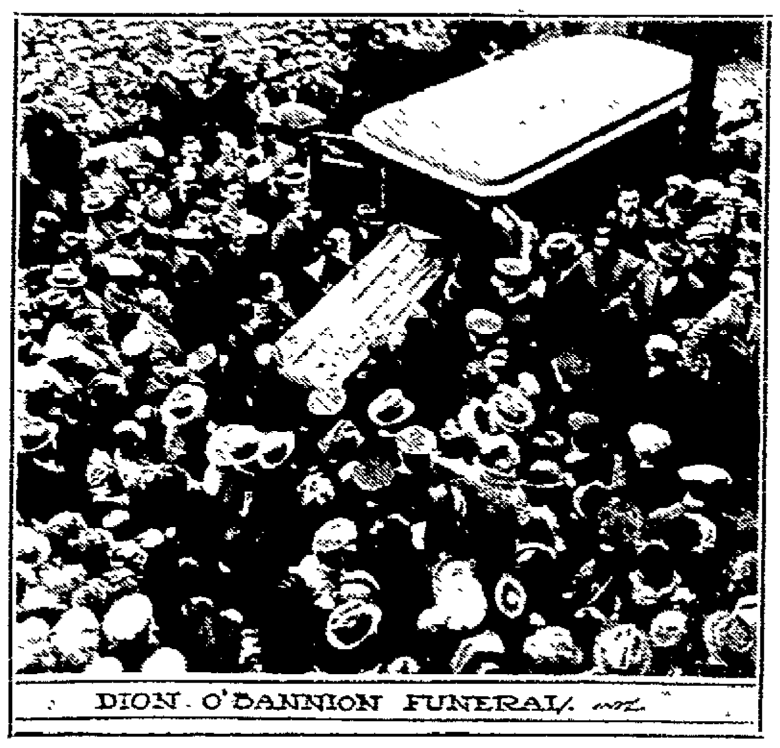
20,000 AT GUNMAN'S FUNERAL



Chicago gangland paid its final tribute to Dion O'Bannion, its slain leader, with a $50,000 funeral. More than 20,000 persons fought to see the casket removed from the house. Rites of the Catholic church were denied O'Bannion, but he was permitted to be buried in a Catholic cemetery.

City Blanketed in White Tues.

With radiators steaming and tires sliding, Coshocton got its first taste of real winter Monday night and Tuesday.

Snow began to fall Monday evening, and continued intermittently thruout the night, covering the ground with a thin white blanket. It is the first snow of the season to stick. Snow fell for a short time Sunday afternoon, but melted as quickly as it touched the ground.

The temperature dropped one degree lower Monday night that it did Sunday night, reaching 19 above zero, according to George Leonard, official U. S. weather observor.

The sudden cold snap brot with it a demand for alcohol and other radiator solutions to prevent freezing, and quick rush for "heavies."

Some of the more optimistic kiddies even dragged their sleds out and prepared to get a good start on the winter sport, but the snow was hardly heavy enough for that purpose.

The weather forecast predicts more light snowfalls tonight and Wednesday with slightly warmer temperature.

Damage Caused by Jersey Fire Is $1,200,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—One man was burned to death, several vessels were destroyed, damage estimated at $1,200,000 was done by fire at the Sinclair Refining Co., docks at Linden, N. J., it was learned today after a check up. John Kelly of Philadelphia, carpenter on the oil tanker, William Boyce Thompson, told police he saw one man, a pumpman, rolling about the deck of the tanker, enveloped by flames, and is certain he perished.

A check up showed seven others missing but their names were not learned because a list of the crew had been destroyed in the fire.

Kelly was blown from the tanker to the dock.

"I know where the fire started, but I have to keep my mouth shut," police say Kelly told them.

Captain Patrick Vincent, of the tug Edwin Baxter, which was destroyed with the barge and tanker, said he jumped into the water, with seven others. He swam for the New Jersey shore; the others started for Staten Island.

BIRTH NOTE

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Mapel, of West Lafayette at the City hospital, Monday night.

TOWNSHIPS HOPE TO GET STATE AID

Following the meeting of township trustees in the common pleas courtoom in the courthouse a few weeks ago, held to obtain information leading to the establishment of a county highways system, the county commissioners, with the information received, selected and designated such a system and ordered the county surveyor to make a map thereof. This map is now being made at the surveyor's office and, according to M. E. Gorsuch, deputy surveyor, it will be completed in a week or ten days.

A copy of this map, when it is finished, will be sent to the director of highways and public works of the state, as is required under the provisions of the Green law, enacted to afford relief to townships by authorizing state aid in constructing roads. It is explained by local business men that no such aid can be obtained unless the map is filed with the state highways director, and it is important that it be completed as quickly as possible.

Each township may receive from $1,000 to $2,000 during any one fiscal year, if the terms of the Green law are compiled with, it is shown.

Attempt Made to Rob Frazeysburg Store and Depot

Prowlers entered the Pierson hardware store and the Pennsylvania depot in Frazeysburg some time last night or early this morning, but nothing was reported missing.

The rear door of the hardware store and the rear door of the depot were broken open. Tracks of the would-be thieves were seen in the snow this morning.

5 ROAD BIDS ARE OPENED BY CO. BOARD

Kleinknecht Awarded Contract for Grading Roads in Two Townships

CHOOSE DEPOSITORY

Surveyor Ordered to Submit Plans and Estimates for Several Projects

Five bids for the contract for grading Roads 24 and 36, in Bethlehem and Keene-tps, were opened at a meeting of the board of county commissioners Monday, and the contract was awarded to Virgil Kleinknecht at his bid of $366.52, the lowest of the five. The others were—J. P. Kleinknecht, $496.39; C. O. Besst, $473.30, M. A. McConnell, $512.35; Charles Williams, $537.

The county surveyor was ordered to prepare and submit plans and estimates for graveling 74 feet of Road 24, Keene-tp; for gravelling approximately 200 feet of Road 200-A, Keene-tp, on the lands of E. E. Clark; for patching with gravel Road 402, Jefferson-tp; for placing red rock on Road 309-A, in Virginia-tp, for a distance of about 1,000 feet thru the lands of Joseph Slaughter; for placing gravel on Road 192, Keene-tp, for a distance of approximately 500 feet thru the lands of Reamer, and for placing a culvert on this road.

The contract to serve as county depository for county funds, for a period of three years, beginning December 1, 1924, was awarded to the Peoples Banking Company of Coshocton at their bid of two per cent for active and inactive funds on average daily balances. Theirs was the only bid received.

A petition for the abandonment of a road in White Eyes-tp was presented to the board. The road, it is said, starts at the home of George Machwart and runs north to the Little Mill Creek road. December 9 was set as the date for first consideration and December 15, the date of final hearing.

Former Resident of City to Give Radio Program

Mrs. O. Hemler, formerly Miss Opal Tafe, of Coshocton, is scheduled to broadcast the entire program from the Cleveland News radio station, WJAX, this evening, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

For a number of years, Mrs. Hemler made her home in this city where she attended the public schools, and she is well known locally.

Attorney Hopes to Save Warship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—While the great gray hulk of the U. S. S. Washington was being towed slowly to her anchorage off the Virginia coast today there to await the practice gunnery that will send her to the bottom of the Atlantic, Wilton J. Lamert, Washington attorney, made another effort to save the big battleship.

Flanked with aides and law books, Lambert went into the court of appeals of the District of Columbia this morning, asked for a temporary injunction against Secretary of Navy Wilbur that will prevent him from carrying out the plan to sink the Washington.

It was virtually the same plea that Lambert made last week before Justice Hitz in district supreme court. Justice Hitz denied the plea and dismissed the case. Lambert's move today was in the nature of an appeal from Hitz's decision. Hitz said the court was without power to intervene.

The lawyer contends that the courts have such power.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 18.—Until the present unfavorable weather conditions abate, the gunery tests against the unfinished hull of the super dreadnaught Washington off the Virginia capes, last of the capital type of ships to be scrapped or sunk in accordance with the arms agreement, will be postponed.

Second Weak District Moves to Place School Levy on Tax Duplicate

Adams-tp Follows Lead of Pike in Circulating Petitions Among the Electors

Petitions were being circulated, Monday and Tuesday, among the electors of Adams-tp by better schools enthusiasts of the township, in the hope of securing the necessary majority of signatures to permit the state director of education to order the three mill levy for school operating expenses placed upon the tax duplicate of Adams-tp.

Adams-tp was one of the five school districts of the county that voted down the three mill levy at the November election. Of the other four districts in which the levy failed to carry—Bethlehem-tp, Crawford-tp, Pike-tp and Tuscarawas-tp—Pike-tp is the only one in which petitions have been circulated. A majority of the electors in Pike-tp signed the petition.

The signing of the petitions by a majority of the electors in these two townships will not yet, however, guarantee the placing of the levy on their tax duplicates. The townships must need state aid over and above the three mill levy, in order for the state director of education to order the levy placed upon the duplicate, after the proposition has been voted down.

BARN BURNS; BOTH DEPTS. FIGHT FIRE

Explosion of Barrel of Oil Makes Firemen's Work Difficult; Loss Small

Both fire trucks were called to the end of West Main-st at 6:40 o'clock Tuesday morning to extinguish a blaze in a barn owned by Elmer Milligan, monument maker.

According to James Tracewell, fire chief, the fire is believed to have been caused by someone throwing a lighted match or cigarette stub on the floor. The interior of the building was burned considerably, but whether the barn was damaged to such an extent as to render it useless was not determined this morning.

A creamery truck belonging to the Cottage Creamery Company on North Third-st had been stored in the barn, but it had been taken out earlier in the morning.

A metal barrel partly filled with oil exploded when it became overheated, and the burning oil made it a little more difficult for the firemen to extinguish.

Chestnut P. T. A. Meeting Draws Overflow Crowd

The meeting of the Chestnut-st Parent-Teachers' Association—at the Chestnut-st building Monday evening was one of the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the organization.

Clyde Wells, president, was in an unusually happy mood and much of the "pep" which characterized these meetings is due to his energy and interest. The room in which the meeting was held seated only about half of those in attendance and if the meetings continue on the present scale they will have to be transferred to the high school auditorium.

The features of the evening were an orchestra of first grade pupils, directed by Miss Thyra Wells, an impromptu address by M. D. Custer, outlining portions of his itinerary in Europe, and the excellent music furnished by Leon Loos' five-piece orchestra.

An interesting announcement was made by E. A. Crawford in regard to proposed playground devices on the Chestnut-st campus. While nothing definite was decided upon at the meeting it seemed almost assured that several pieces such as slides, swings, teeters, similar amusements for children will be purchased by popular subscription and installed next spring.

One of the best numbers on the program was a violin duet played by Eugene Gorseline and Francis Hall, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Sanvary. Both the boy violinists showed unusual ability and were generously applauded. Miss Kate McClure, well known vocal soloist, sang with her usual ability and responded to two encores.

Brief addresses were made by Superintendent A. C. Pence and Edgar Marshall, president of the board of education.

Mr. Custer confined his description of his European visit to a narrative of the historic scenes in and about Windsor Castle, including a reference to Thomas Grey and his famous poem, "The Elegy in a Country Churchyard." He also spoke at length on the famous boys' school at Eaton, founded a half century before Columbus crossed the Atlantic and still maintaining the traditions which have made it perhaps the most widely known training school for boys in the world.

At the conclusion of the program the meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee. The audience was divided into a dozen or more groups and coffee and doughnuts were served. On the suggestion of Mrs. Strome a Christmas feature will be developed for the holiday meeting.

FARM WOMEN'S CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY

The Farm Woman's club, of Perry-tp, will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Donna Miller, Thursday, November 20. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

PAIR ACCUSED OF MURDERING COP ON TRIAL

Prosecutor Moves to Prevent Jury from Giving Light Sentence to Slayers

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—Prepared to face the alternative of freedom for the alleged slayers of Michael Hahnel, Cleveland Heights policeman, fatally shot as he was taking two men to the police station on a traffic charge, Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton was to go into court today and nolle the third count in the indictments returned against "Red" Holt and Joe Prymas, held for murder. This count charges "deliberate and premeditated murder," and under it a "soft" jury could find the defendants guilty of any offense down to assault and battery.

In order that the alternative may be put squarely up to the juries yet to be selected, the alleged bandit slayers will be tried on courts upon which the only verdicts possible to return will be

Johnson Funeral Wednesday 1:30

Funeral services will be held at the Ripley Chapel church Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 for Mrs. Della Johnson, aged 47, who resides west of Walhonding. The procession will leave the late home at 1 p. m. and proceed to the church. The services will be in charge of the Rev. B. F. Lorenz, of Mansfield. Burial will be made in Riley cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson died Monday morning from pneumonia. She had been ill a week.

Her maiden name was Della Busenburg and she was born and raised in the vicinity of Walhonding.

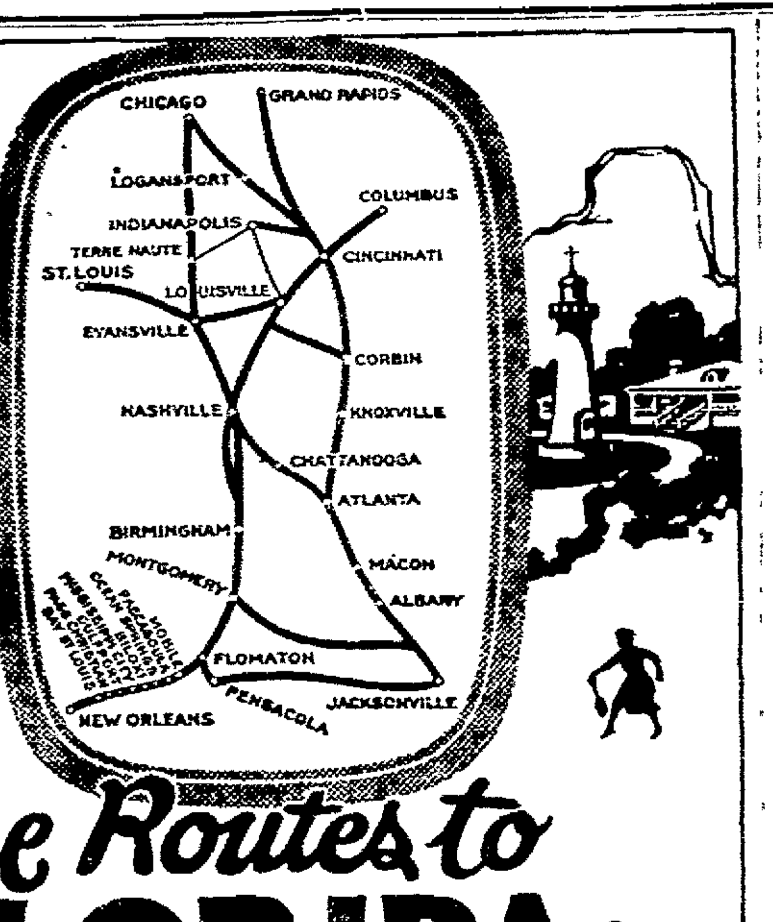
She was affiliated with the Disciple church for the past 21 years.

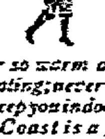
There are surviving three children, Robert, James R. and William, Jr., all of the late home, three brothers, Samuel Busenburg, of Marshallville, O., Peter Busenburg, of Walhonding and Stanton Busenburg, of Brinkhaven and one sister, Mrs. Mamie Klein, of Danville.

Her husband preceded her to the grave a year ago.

Breaks Her Arm Cranking Auto

Mrs. Edgar Knicely, of Conesville, sustained a fracture of her right arm while cranking her automobile, Monday. The fracture was reduced by Dr. E. U. Marquand, of Conesville.





THE map tells the story. You can make the Gulf Coast trip first, continuing from Flomaton on the L. & N. main line to Florida, and returning North on any of the L. & N.'s perfectly-equipped all-steel through trains: The Southland, The Dixie Flyer, The Dixie Limited. Or you can visit Florida first and return via Pensacola and Flomaton, from the latter the short side trip is made to the other Gulf Coast points. The principal ones are shown on the map.

Diverse Routes to FLORIDA and Gulf Coast Region

Never so warm as to be enervating; never so cold as to keep you indoors, the Gulf Coast is a favorite place to play! There are numerous splendid golf courses, as well as tennis courts; bridle paths; and fishing, sailing, [illegible]ting and hunting.

The Diverse Route plan of the L. & N. for visiting Florida, including the Gulf Coast from Mobile to New Orleans on the same trip, at slight additional cost, or including Pensacola at no extra cost, will be a feature of Southern travel this year.

The Gulf Coast offers so varied a list of attractions—equable climate, old-world atmosphere, modern hotels, beautiful scenery, all sports, truly hospitable people, cooking that is an epicurean delight;—that the list of visitors grows every season. And of course, there's New Orleans!

Visit the Gulf Coast this year. The diverse route plan makes it easy and very inexpensive. Let the undersigned give you full information and arrange your itinerary. Ask or write for descriptive literature.

What You Should Know about a baby's care

Illness is usually due to constipation. Quickly give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

THE young mother should watch which foods the baby relishes most, which foods and their quantity cause distress, and act accordingly.

The good health of a baby is largely a matter of intelligent attention to diet. Nevertheless, in spite of your efforts you will sometimes notice belching, flatulence, wind and symptoms of colicky pain.

Give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and thereafter vary the offending food. Syrup Pespin is a laxative admirably suited to infants and children, as it is mild and wholly free from opiates and narcotics.

If you delay in giving it you will soon find the baby suffering from constipation, and that may lead to more serious illness. Half a teaspoonful promptly given will avoid trouble.

Many thousands of mothers have never given their babies any other medicine but Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and they have successfully raised large and sturdy families. The formula is not a secret, being a combination of Egyptian senna with pepsin, and agreeable aromatics. The ingredients are stated on the package. Mrs. Dewey Walker, Elida, N. M., and Mrs. B. Higginbotham, Otter Creek, Fla., are among the many who are firm believers that Syrup Pepsin has kept their families and themselves in good health.

No family with young children can afford to be without such a household medicine. It is effective, beneficial and safe regardless of your age and has been considered so for over thirty years. In consequence it is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles being sold annually.

You will find that Syrup Pepsin quickly brings relief in the severest chronic constipation, in biliousness, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, headache, cankers, bad breath, and to stop a cold or fever.

Free Sample Bottle Coupon

There are people who very rightly prefer to try a thing before they buy it. Let them clip this coupon, pin their name and address to it, and send it to the Pepsin Syrup Co., 518 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois, and a free sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will be sent them postpaid by mail. Do not inclose postage. It is free.

Every druggist sells it. and the cost on the average is less than a cent a dose. It is guaranteed to be effective in these symptoms or your money will be refunded.

TODAY'S BRIGHT SPOT

Signing a pledge of the Volstead era means that John Povelich, of Lafferty, O., wont:

Enter an automobile in less than four hours after he has taken a drink of any intoxicant, unless he wants to serve a 60-day jail sentence.

This novel pledge was devised by Justice Lewis M. Shores, of St. Clairsville, after Povelich had been arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He also paid a fine of $100.

The justice figured, he said, that if Povelich waited for four hours after drinking he would be able to drive any car.

MARTINS FERRY—Miss Elsie Gossett, 13, has broken her right leg for the ninth time. Due to frequent fractures, the girl has spent most of her time in recent years in a wheel chair. The letest fracture was due to a fall.

DEFIANCE — A citizen's committee will conduct a drive for $10.000 Thanksgiving week as the community's contribution toward financing the new edifice that is being constructed by the United Brethren here.

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Bert Yenrick fell when an iron gutter grating at a local street corner tilted as she stepped on it, breaking her arm below the elbow.

BARNESVILLE—Belmont county grange, in session here, adopted resolutions opposing the proposed child labor amendment to the constitution. The grangers went on record as favoring continuance of the tuberculin testing of cattle in Belmont county.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE—The Italian Fascisti figured in a criminal trial in Belmont county common pleas court here when it was testified the alleged crime occurred as a result of a dispute between Italians concerning the merits of the organization. Herman De Felice, of Bellaire, is on trial, charged with cutting to kill John Fachini. Fachini, said to be opposed to the Fascisti, objected because De Felice's father is a member of the organization. A fight followed, resulting in the stabbing.

DEFIANCE—One thousand persons crowded the small rural church and graveyard at Marysdale Catholic church when the funeral was held for Bernard C. Batt, 24, son of Edward Batt, Washington township, who was fatally injured when his automobile overturned on the New-Sherwood road.

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Fruit Growers' Cooperative association, in its program to sell fruit to Ohio consumers, has shipped thirty-five carloads to Columbus for distribution in this section of the state, according to Secretary C. W. Waid. Of these shipments, twenty-five cars have been graded in warehousing space in Columbus, leased by the association. Varieties handled in this manner include Grimes Golden, Jonathan, King David, Stamen, Delicious and Roman Beauties.

ELYRIA — The Elks' football team has decided to finish the season. Charles Clark succeeding Ernie Leedale as manager. The team is to meet the Lorain Mercuries for the county championship. Leedale resigned because the players refused to report for practice.

11 Chinese Hove Over Ship's Side, Report in N. Y.

BY DAVID SENTNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—In the twilight zone of bootlegging circles here today, a story was in circulation of eleven Chinese, human contraband, who were trussed in burlap bags with weights and hove over the side of a rum runner during a chase by a coast guard cutter in New York Bay.

In a West-st dive where the policeman on the beat whistles a tune ostentatiously as he passes, a veteran seaman of the rum running fleet declared the business was becoming so hazardous that the boys were turning to Chinese smuggling.

"A smuggled load of Chinese gets from $100 to $250 a head," he said. "Liquor is tough to get into the country now and there's twelve revenue cutters to every one a year ago. They're using airplanes to bring in whiskey now. The price has advanced $15 a case in the last ten days.

"Smuggling Chinks is an easier graft. We make a deal with each Chinaman that in case of trouble he dives overboard and takes his chances. Most of the Chinese come via Havana. Those eleven Chinese were hove over all right, but they got a swimming chance. The bags were a screen. there weren't any weights—it would be unethical."

The Chinese bureau of the immigration department said it knew Chinese were being smuggled in but it was difficult to detect them. A bureau official declared if 11 Chinese had been drowned it would be impossible to gather any evidence. He said it was common for smugglers to arrange with the Orientals beforehand to swim for shore if the vessel were pursued. Thirty-four Chinese were deported last Thursday. They had attempted to enter the country on a ship from Boston, according to the bureau. Most attempts to smuggle Chinese in heretofore were made by padding the crew lists, it was said.

Lieutenant David Sheehan, of the New York harbor squad, scoffed at the report of the 11 Chinese being drowned.

"I don't say it didn't happen nor that smuggling of Chinese is not being done, but I never have heard of it," he said. "Rum runners don't bother with anything but rum running."

The United States coast guard today reported the finding of 25 burlap bags containing hootch, washed up on Oak Island, off Long Island.

ETHYLIZED GASOLINE

For one year and nine months ethlyized gasoline has been on sale. It is now being distributed through about 20,000 filling stations covering one-third of the territory of the United States.

About 200,000,000 gallons have been used by more than 1,000,000 motorists with complete safety and satisfaction.

Recently a distressing accident occurred at an experimental plant, where a new process for the manufacture of tetraethyl lead, one of the constituents used in ethylizing gasoline, was under development.

Tetraethyl lead is a poison, as are many raw materials which enter into the manufacture of harmless compounds. Ethlyized gasoline consists of 1,300 parts of ordinary gasoline containing less than one part of tetraethyl lead.

This statement is issued to make plain the all-important difference between tetraethyl lead, the raw material, and ethylized gasoline, the commercial product.

Ethylized gasoline is more than an improved fuel, giving smoothness to the motor and eliminating knocks: it is a scientific discovery which, in its ultimate development, will contribute largely to the conservation of the world's supply of gasoline.

Exhaustive tests have been conducted which have established the safety of ethylized gasoline when used as a motor fuel. These tests have been confirmed, by the United States Bureau of Mines, which is making additional studies to determine whether any possible injury can result from continued contact when used for other than motor purposes. Scientific data based on these studies will be submitted to any health commissioner or other public health official on request.

LOCAL LOAN COMPANIES PROSPERING

The three building and loan associations in Coshocton-co must increase their total assets by $500,000 during the next 12 months according to word received by local building and loan associations from James a Devine, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Building Association League.

The demand for home loans for the next 12 months indicates that $200,000,000 will be necessary to keep the building industry going in Ohio. In order that this amount will be available to home seekers, a definite quota has been assigned to building and loan associations in every county.

Speaking for the building and loan associations in this community, E. A. Crawford of the Home Building, Loan & Savings Company said that building and loan associations in this county last year made a gain in resources of $211,975.43, and that he believed the institutions could reach the goal set for them this year.

Speakers at the recent convention of building and loan men held at Columbus pointed out that prosperity thruout Ohio during the last year was kept up mainly by the building industry. The building industry and its allied industries gave work to more than a half million men during the year. Should the building and loan associations be able to accumulate sufficient funds to meet all the demands for building purposes during the coming 12 months, it is estimated that even more men will be given employment than were used last year.

In setting the new mark for building and loan associations, it was pointed out by Secretary Devise that not a single depositor in any building and loan association in Ohio lost a penny during the last fiscal year.

Prof. Dickson to Speak at Warsaw

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TWO HOTELS IN ATLANTIC CITY BURNED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 18.—Two of Atlantic City's hotels and the Casino on the steel pier lay in ice coated ashes today after fire which claimed two lives had injured six persons and threatened to sweep the entire board walk before it was got under control.

James Bennett, 80, New York, an invalid, was the known victim of the flames. He was trapped in his room at the Bothwell hotel and in his attempt to escape suffered injuries from which he died. An unidentified woman is believed to have perished The injured were: Nettie May Slick, South Fork, Pa., both legs fractured, condition serious; Belford Taylor, Frank Marsh, Captain Allen Darby, C. L. Fry and George Wolsiefer, firemen, who suffered cuts and contusions in the difficult fight against the fire.

Temperature below freezing, and a cutting wind made their task more difficult

The fire started in the Hotel Bothwell, a frame structure, spread to the Senator hotel, a frame and brick building and from flying embers, the Casino caught fire. The total loss was estimated at $625,000.

The exhibit of the national Grange, which is in convention in Atlantic City with farmers and ranchers from all states attending, was destroyed. It was valued at $10,000.

550 FARM KIDS GET A WEEK AT COLLEGE

Club Champions from 84 Counties Go to Columbus Next Monday

Eighty-four of Ohio's 88 counties are sending to Columbus next week November 17-24, 550 farm boys and girls as a reward for their achievements in farm clubs. The youngsters will be the guests of the Ohio State University from Monday to Friday at the tenth annual Club Week.

Each of the 550 is a county champion in one or more of the 14 projects undertaken by the farm clubs, such as sewing or cooking for the girls, and stock or crop raising for the boys. Some of the counties are sending as many as 16 club members.

This year's program for Club Week differs radically from previous ones, state club leaders say. Where the emphasis used to be on farm lectures and demonstrations, the program will offer a few talks on reading and music and more chance than ever before for games and individual recreation.

Particularly for the girls there will be instruction in folk dancing, singing, and guides to dress. For the boys there will be, along with the general program, demonstrations in rope work and in building a radio.

The youngsters will be divided into groups for this instruction, for games, and for stunts of their own devising. Sight-seeing tours around the city and the University campus and illustrated travel talks by Dean Alfred Vivian of the College of Agriculture are also on the program.

Under the plant quarantine law, all motorists entering California must submit to official inspection of their cars and personal belongings.

Several impressive monuments mark the spot in the Forest Compiegne, where the Armistice was signed on November 11, 1918.

Safety Drive Seeks Pledges from Autoists

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—A drive for the signatures of 400,000 drivers of motor vehicles in New York to a safe driving pledge has been started by Barron Collier, multi-millionaire, Special Deputy Police Commissioner in charge of the Bureau of Public Safety.

The pledge which drivers are being asked to sign reads:

"I hereby promise that I will obey all traffic regulations, watch out for children and pedestrians, and drive safely at all times to the end that the appalling sacrifice of life, caused by carelessness, may be stopped and the streets of New York City made safe."

Suit for Three Millions Filed Against Concern

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—That a suit for $3,000,000 for alleged breach of contract has been filed against the Goodyear Cotton and Rubber Co, of Akron, Ohio, by counsel for four concerns, was learned today when attorneys for the defendant company moved before Supreme Court Justice Lewis in Brooklyn for setting aside of the service and complain in the suit that service was defective. Justice Lewis reserved decision.

The plaintiff concerns are: Stockton A. Morris & Co., the Tauton Manufacturing Co., and the Thistle Cotton Mills. The nature of the alleged contract breach was not revealed."

Strife at Niles Under Surface

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18. — While the situation outwardly is calm at Niles, O., where state troops were called recently to quell factional disorders, under the surface there is turmoil, according to Harvey A. Burgess, Trumbull-co prosecutor, who returned to his home county today.'

At a conference of Governor Donahey and Burgess, at which a representative of the attorney general was present, it was decided that the county prosecutor shall have full charge of prosecutions in the Niles cases. A county grand jury is to be called some time this week.

Rep. Politician Found Murdered

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Nov. 18. A murder which shocked the community and may become a state-wide sensation was uncovered here this morning with the finding of the body of Joseph Henry Ching, prominent lawyer and politician, in front of St. Aloysius church. His head had been beaten in with some blunt instrument.

Ching was chairman of the Republican state committee and had long been prominent in Republican politics of the state.

OHIO FLOCKS MOVE FOUR EGGS HIGHER

Farm Poultrymen Better 1923 Production Record, College Reports

Ohio poultrymen keeping egg production records have beaten their 1923 average total per hen so far this year by four eggs.

To some 450 flock owners in every county in the state this word is now going out from poultry extension specialists at the Ohio State University. Summary of the production records, which are kept in co-operation with the county agents and the poultry specialists at the State University, shows this:

Production for September, the last month on which figures are available, averaged 16.9 eggs a bird on these 450 farms. Average production for September of 1923 was 9.9 eggs a bird. For the poultryman's year thus far, from last November to this October 1, the birds have produced a total of 129.9 eggs a bird. For the same period in 1923 the total was 125.4 a bird.

"We are glad to see this decided increase in production," says a representative of the poultry department, "and feel that it is largely because of the improvement in stock and a better understanding of culling and flock management. But our goal, the standard of 160 eggs a bird for the year, is still far ahead of us."

For September flocks owned by these poultrymen headed the state list: S. M. Burkholder, Fulton-co, Mrs. Curtis Peters, Franklin-co; Vernon Fowkes, Belmont-co; Elmer F. Kruse, Auglaize-co, H. G. Hanes, Belmont-co; Albert Harvey, Henry-co; C. L. Yarlott, Defiance-co; F. W. Adams, Pike-co; Hal Delamatre, Erie-co; Ray B. Hugus, Fairfield-co.

OPERATION ADVISED FRIEND SAID "DON'T DO IT!"

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First. Proved Good Advice

Chicago, Illinois.—"Just a few lines to let you know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was married going on for three years, and went to a doctor and was taking treatments twice a week for pains every month. I used to lie in bed three or four days with them and the doctor would call and inject something into my arm to put me asleep so I would not feel the pains. At last she said I would have to be operated on if I wanted any children. Well, I just happened to go to see a friend with her first baby and I told her I was going to the hospital, and she said, 'Don't do it! You go and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you won't need any operation.' So my husband got me a bottle right away. Now I have two lovely children. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to every woman. It has helped me and a lot of my friends."—MRS. A. MCANDLESS, 1700 South Morgan St., Chicago, Illinois.

the electric chair, life in the penitentiary or freedom.

Holt and Prymas are being tried separately, tho the evidence against them is identical in large measure. Both are alleged to have confessed, altho both have entered pleas of "not guilty." It has been indicated that the defense in the case of Prymas will be that he has the mind of a child of twelve, while Holt will contend that he had no part in the shooting and was completely surprised when as he declared, Prymas fired the shot that resulted in Hahnel's death.

Selection of juries, which began yesterday, continued today. Attorneys for state and defense both expressed the view this morning that the day would be largely taken up with this work, and that it might even go over until tomorrow. Eleven jurors had been tentatively seated to try Holt, but the defense had 11 unexercised challenges and the state three. It was thot the box might be filled and emptied time and again before a jury was finally obtained. In the Prymas case, with no peremptory challenges as yet exercised, the box was tentatively filled when court convened.

Hahnel was shot the night of October 16, when he stopped a touring car for careless driving in Cleveland Heights. He with another policeman was painting traffic signs on a busy road when a car driven at an excessive speed almost ran them down. Instead of merely taking the number he jumped in the car and ordered the two men to drive to the police station. Shortly afterwards he was found fatally wounded in a dark street.

The man hunt which followed resulted in the posting of rewards totalling $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of his slayers. Holt was taken in a thrilling chase at Wheeling, while Prymas, who had remained in Cleveland, was arrested when he attempted to commit suicide after Holt was alleged to have confessed.

DAVID HAS A CHAT WITH DADDY COYOTE.

"HUM!" David mused as he stepped up beside the fence that closed in the animal. "I've never seen anything just like you before, but you do look like a wolf."

"Nothing funny about that," chuckled the yellowish brown animal. "We Coyotes do belong to the Wolf family all right. Bobby Wolf is my cousin."

"Yet you have a bushy tail like Mr. Fox, haven't you?" David asked.

"Yes, I have," laughed Mr. Coyote. "But that doesn't make me a Fox. My face is longer than Mr. Fox's too. I have the honor of being one of the swiftest runners of my kind."

"But I've always heard that you run when you see danger," laughed David. "Surely you aren't a coward, are you?"

"I guess some folks do think that I am," chuckled Mr. Coyote. "But I think it's the thing to do.

"There's one thing I never do. I always make sure I'm right, then I go ahead. I never do make the mistake of just thinking I'm right. I make sure. That's why folks have a hard time to trap me. Have you ever seen my family? No?" when David shook his head. "Well, come right in and I'll take you in to see them."

David found the gate and went inside the pen. Mr. Coyote led him to a hole under the side of a hill. Here he and Mama Coyote and their ten little babies all lived as snug as ten bugs in a rug.

"Of course we have just lived here since we joined the zoo," Mama Coyote explained, "but I tell you right now, we have a happy little home."

"Yes, and much better than if we were out in the wild," interrupted Daddy Coyote. "I must say Mama Coyote and I do miss our hunting sprees. That's one thing we did love to do. We would sometimes go out together and hunt."

"You Can't Be a Coward."

"Sometimes we'd take the youngsters with us, and sometimes we'd go hunting alone," mused Mama Coyote. "But with it all, I wouldn't go back to the wild life if I had the chance."

"And what would you hunt?" asked David who wanted to know all he could find out.

"Most anything," laughed Daddy Coyote, "from frogs to fruit. We like most anything. Say, Mama, that reminds me, isn't it just about dinner-time now?"

Just then they heard a loud call outside and David opened his eyes to see the keeper of the zoo lifting their dinner over the fence.

"Isn't that a fine family?" he asked David as the Coyote family came running out to get their dinner. "That big Coyote," pointing to Daddy Coyote, "is one of the swiftest runners in the woods. He'd sure sprint for the forest if he caught that gate open," and chuckling to himself, the keeper of the zoo went on to feed the other animals.

Why Lee Chow Reappeared After He Vanished.

EVEN through my frantic anxiety for Junior there flashed an irresistible thrill of amusement at Katie's astonished reaction to my small son's echo of his grandmother's favorite admonition. She threw up her head and stared at him for a minute, and then to my surprise—although I should not be astonished at anything my volatile little maid may think of doing—she laughed loudly and heartily.

"You not kecck bucket shoost yet, my ba-bee!" she chortled. "Not vile you talk so smart shoost like Grand mudder! But"—with a sudden lowering of her brows as she turned to Lee Chow—"dot don't mean you didn't try to keel heem, und I tell you now you better keep yourself pretty small ven you by me, or I feex you goot und proper, you bet your boots.

"Now, Meesis Graham"—with a swift transition to practicality—"vot you goin' gif dot ba-bee, take avay dot poison dees Chink put in dose clams?"

I have heard much of the imperturbability of Orientals and a furtive glance at Lee Chow told me that as far as his possession of the quality was concerned, nothing I had heard had been exaggerated. Not a muscle of his face had changed under her fiery denunciation, and he ignored Katie magnificently as with the same monotonous inflection which had characterized his former utterance, he repeated the words:

"Not clams. But must go to doctor soon."

Katie opened her mouth for another tirade, but I forestalled it with a stern and peremptory:

"Be quiet, Katie, and get the things into the car at once. Marion will help you. Lee Chow, will you put back the cushion and pillows you brought from the car for me?"

He hesitated, looking at Junior.

"Lil' boss man plenty heavy, Lee Chow better carry."

I drew my boy closer in sudden unreasoning panic.

"Mother Knows, Darling."

"No, no," I said vehemently. "He is not too heavy for me. But hurry with the things."

I stumbled through the sand to the car, finding the child indeed a heavy load, but mother-like, unwilling to surrender to any one else the appealing clasp of his arms. Not to Dicky himself would I have transferred my ailing little lad, who now was whimpering with pain and fright.

"My eyes hurt lots, Mama. I can't open them. And my face and hands burn."

"Mother knows, darling," I soothed him. "And we'll hurry just as fast as we can to a nice doctor who'll give you something to stop the hurt."

Though I hurried as fast as I could, my progress through the sand was necessarily slow, and by the time I reached the car Marion and Katie, who had been working at top speed, had bestowed the camp-luggage, much lightened now, in the carrier on the side, and were waiting with anxious faces for us.

"Lee Chow Drive Car!"

Lee Chow was nowhere to be seen, although the replaced seat and cushions showed that he had carried out my instructions to the letter. But he had vanished into the bushes as mysteriously as he had appeared, and I wondered if my refusal to let him carry Junior had offended him after all.

I speedily forgot him, however, in the dilemma which faced me when I realized that I must transfer Junior to someone else's care while I drove the car. My first suggestion of such a course brought a piteous protest from my small son.

"Don't let me go, Mama!" he wailed. "Hold me tight."

"But ba-bee, your poor ma ma got to drive the car," Katie struck in with a valiant attempt to bring me aid and comfort. "Shoost let your Katie hold you, till ve get home. Den you can go by Mama all times."

"No! No!" Junior's voice, usually docile, rose in a hysterical scream. "I want my Mama to hold me, nobody else."

Ordinarily I should have compelled Junior to sit with Katie, but I did not know what effect weeping might have upon his swollen eyes, or excitement upon his undeniably feverish condition. I was at my wits' end, and was debating the possibility of holding him in one arm and trying to drive the car with the other hand, even though I realized the danger of a sudden nervous swerve upon his part, when Lee Chow's calm voice sounded close to me. Again he had materialized mysteriously from the bushes without my hearing his approach.

"Lee Chow drive car," he said authoritatively. "Boss lady hold li'l boss man on lap."

Advice to Girls

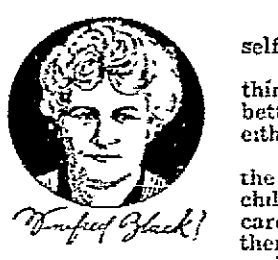
WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT The Truth About Children

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.



Winifred Black!

FOR goodness' sake!

Isn't it awful—just perfectly awful!

Here's what a well-known writer has to say about it:

"The revelations of the new psychology are telling us hideous stories of what for generations has been going on in secret, and of what is going on this minute among young people brought up to observe hypocritical convention."

There now, did you realize what a terrible world it is we live in and what thieves and cowards and poisoners and cruel torturers we live among—and never knew it?

Can You Believe It?

This "new psychology"—where does it come from in the name of common sense, and who are these "new psychologists" that they are so wise?

How do they know all about these terrible secrets they talk so much about?

I was no saint when I was a little red-headed tyke with so much energy and life that I couldn't keep still a minute to save my soul—but I was no demon either.

I was full of mischief and I was careless and thoughtless and selfish. I can look back and see that now.

But I never planned a murder in my life, and as for stealing things—why, the idea! And I don't believe I was so very much better or so very different from all the rest of the boys and girls either.

I don't believe all this rubbish about the hideous depravity of the youthful mind. I don't believe it at all. I've lived among children all of my life, worked among them, loved them and taken care of them. They've made me so cross that I've wanted to box their ears. They've made me so mad that I wanted to cry. They've made me so happy that I wanted to sing—but think as I will, I can't remember a single thief or murderer or would-be murderer among them all.

And to tell the truth, it's my honest opinion that children are not born bad—they're born good.

they are sweet-tempered, they are forgiving—until we grown-ups fuss with them until they get to be a good deal like us.

They are loving and trusting, they are kind, they are generous,

If I could be as fine and as simple and as good as the average little boy or girl of five or six, I'd be mighty proud of myself.

Just a Bad Dream.

The children are all right, they've always been all right; it's the grown people that are wrong, all wrong and always have been.

I'd give more for one look of trusting love from the eyes of a loving little child than I would for all the protestations from all the strutting, conceited, self-opinionated Romeos in the world.

"Hideous stories"—yes, that's just what they are, hideous stories—these tales of the depravity of the average child's mind!

They aren't true, they aren't even interesting.

They're just silly and evil-minded and cruel—and if you really believe them as some of these new psychologists pretend to believe them, you might as well go and lock yourself up in a dungeon in an insane asylum and be done with it.

And what a lot of feeble-minded, here-to-day and there-to-morrow creatures we are, we moderns, to sit spellbound and drink in all this rubbish about the modern psychology!

It's a bad dream, that's all, it's a nightmare—let's pull ourselves together and wake up!

She Describes a Charming Dinner Gown.

MONA has come back from abroad again.

She has trunks full of lovely clothes, as usual, and Pam and I went over to call late yesterday afternoon.

"I'm delighted to see you, Mona," Pam assured her. "I'm also consumed with curiosity to see your new clothes," she added.

Mona smiled and said:

"Whichever brings you, I'm glad that you could come over. Of course I know what you want to see the most and I've been fairly lonesome all day."

First, we had tea and Mona chatted on in her own charming fashion about the sights she had seen and the things she had done.

"Of course when one has made as many trips as you have, the thing must lose some of its novelty," Pam remarked.

"It does, I suppose," Mona answered. "Still there's something nicer that takes the place of the feeling of novelty. I return to Paris now with all the feeling of returning to some old and dearly beloved spot."

"Just like going back home," Pam enthused. "Wouldn't I love to have that feeling about Paris! I wonder when I'll ever get to make my first trip."

"Oh, your time will come," Mona assured her.

"Of course, it will," I added.

"When it does, Mona, you must arrange to be there too so you can pilot me about," Pam said.

"I will show you all the best things I have discovered in my ramblings," Mona assured her.

"I want to see a great many sights before I even think about clothes," Pam said.

"When you do think about clothes I'll introduce you to a [illegible] little French dressmaker I discovered this time," Mona told her.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Inexpensive Ways to Join the "Better Homes" Campaign.

THE "Better Homes" campaigns that have recently swept the country find an echoing desire in almost every woman's heart to fall in line and make hers one of them. It is not always money that holds us back; sometimes it is lack of knowledge of just how to accomplish desired results.

Rents in cities all through the country are appreciably higher than in former times, which does not leave us much surplus to spend on living quarters as we [illegible] desire. When we can own a home and it is new we feel that everything we put into it counts. But with an old home things are different. It is harder to make a place over than to humanize a new home.

Our first consideration should be walls and floors, woodwork and lighting. In dining room, kitchen, halls and nursery painted walls are an economy. This is especially so where there are children and finger marks must be continually effaced. Paper perhaps appeals more strongly for living and bedrooms.

Floors in old houses are apt to be a grave problem. If the kitchen floor is bad, it had better be covered with linoleum. If it is fairly smooth and the cracks not wide—even if the boards are wide—it will probably paint satisfactorily after the cracks have been filled and the surface made smooth. If it is a new floor, with narrow well-fitting boards, it will do well oiled.

If the floors in the halls are bad they should be covered with linoleum. Rugs scattered about take away all thought of its being a cold floor covering. In the bedrooms carpet in a solid color may be used around the edge of the room, and a large rug may cover the center and lie on the filling.

These points decided we can look about the furnishings. If we cannot have new things we must do the best we can with the old. Right here of course the painted furniture shines and it is a solution in many cases.

If we have an old-fashioned and unattractive sideboard, we can sell it, and in its place have one built in just as we like, and then finish it like the woodwork of the room. The dining table, if big and cumbersome, may also be sold and we can acquire a drop leaf, one that may be pulled to one side when not in use and give us the center of the room. This makes an amazing change for the better.

The old-fashioned china or glass closet may follow the other pieces, and the carpenter can put up a hanging closet for such things as we may desire to keep in the open above the side table or over the built-in sideboard. This gives us additional room for chairs and comfortable getting about. We treasure these old things long after they are an eyesore to us, because we feel we should not part with them, but after we have taken the plunge we wish we had done so years before.

Lighting means everything in the modern home, and with electricity the most marvelous things may be had for a not too serious outlay. A light at either side and above the dressing table is a joy; at least, we can see ourselves as others see us.

Well lighted halls remove pitfalls where there are unexpected steps or furniture that is bent on barking one's shins. Also it comforts timid children. A good light in a bathroom is also a necessity. In the kitchen a lot of thought should be spent on placing fixtures in just the right places, not forgetting the illumination of sink and stove.

Switches at the head of the cellar stairs make it much pleasanter to descend than to venture down in pitch darkness and struggle to locate the fixture. In one country home a device at the head of the stairs turned on at night allowed the illumination of the entire lower floor, and proved a sort of burglar trap as well as a convenience in illness or sudden need. Porch and garage lights are also a protection.

Lights at the heads of beds should all be equipped with chains, so they may be easily reached. These things are what make a better home.

YOUR HEALTH

What Science Now Does to Remedy Mastoid Disease

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

A "TREE SURGEON" has been repairing some of the maples on my farm. I love trees and cannot bear to see one of them in danger of death for want of care.

I watched the capable young man, chipping away with chisel and mallet, carefully removing all the dead material. He followed every crack and crevice that might lead to a pocket of dead wood.

The tree surgeon does exactly what the ear surgeon does in operating for mastoid disease. He takes out as little material as possible, but proceeds carefully until all the germ-invaded tissue is removed.

You cannot prosper physically unless your body is free from pus-infected or dead tissue. You are not safe so long as pus producing germs are active in any part of your system.

Mastoid disease is one of the diseases which have destruction of tissue as a characteristic. This particular process is never primary. By this I mean that mastoid disease invariably follows some other infection or ailment.

Let me explain a little about the region where the mastoid lies. If you will feel just back of your ear you will find a hard bump. This is the mastoid.

This bone has a hard and more or less thick outer shell, but in its interior are open spaces like the cells of honeycomb. Indeed, they are called the mastoid cells, and through one particularly large space, open into the middle-ear.

The middle-ear is a cavity, bounded outwardly by the eardrum. Into the middle-ear opens the Eustachian tube, which runs to it from the back of the nose.

Don't you see how easy it is for disease to begin in the nose or throat, creep up the Eustachian tube and set up serious inflammation here? If pus infection is added, then an abscess forms in the middle-ear.

Popularly known as a "gathering" in the ear, there are few conditions more painful. But it is not alone the earache we have to dread. The trouble is that in abscess of the middle-ear there is always the danger of extension to the mastoid cells.

You will understand now why I say mastoid disease is rarely primary. The cells are so remote and so guarded that there is no way to reach them except through the ear.

When pus forms in one of the mastoid cells, it goes into the others, softens the surrounding bone, and gradually burrows through the outer shell of bone, forming an abscess over the mastoid bone. In other and more serious cases it breaks through into the brain cavity and causes an abscess there.

In the mastoid operation the surgeon opens into the diseased area and takes out all the diseased and decayed tissue, just as the tree surgeon does in his work. Then kind nature restores the part by healing up the wound with good tissue.

Answers to Health Questions

MRS. MARY L. F. Q.—How can I remove moles from my body?

A.—Moles may be removed by means of the electric needle. This should be done by an expert.

* * *

B. Q.—Will you please advise me how to gain ten or fifteen pounds in a short time?

A.—Build yourself up generally and you will probably gain in weight. Drink plenty of milk and get as much rest and sleep as possible. For further particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

Z. S. Q.—If my tonsils are diseased, should I have them removed?

A.—Yes; by all means do this.

* * *

AN INTERESTED READER. Q.—What should a baby of five months weigh and how tall should she be at this age?

A.—She should weigh about fourteen pounds, but the height and weight varies according to the individual baby.

FAMOUS "FIRSTS"

Brief Stories of the Men and Women Who Led the Way

By MARK STUYVESANT

How Modern Science Duplicated an Ancient Invention.

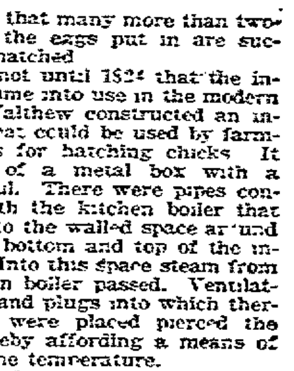
MANY inventions that we think of as discoveries of the modern mind, turn out, upon investigation, to be "old stuff." Time and again we are made to realize the full force of the saying that "there is nothing new under the sun." Accordingly, we find that artificial incubation, the hatching of eggs by artificial means, which is an industry of comparatively recent development in Europe and America, was known to the Egyptians and the Chinese almost from time immemorial.

At Berme, an Egyptian city, this trade has the dignity of a secret profession.

Travelers, however, have managed to secure a general idea of the processes involved in the Egyptian system. To begin with, there is a brick building called a Mamal. It consists of four large ovens, each large enough to admit several men at one time. The ovens are arranged in pairs, one oven being above the other. The eggs are placed in the middle of the floor of the oven. The fire is lighted in the gutter around the sides.

The attainment of the right degree of heat entirely depends, so far as can be determined by an outsider, upon the skill of the persons employed. When the proper degree of heat has been attained, the entrance hole of the Mamal is plugged with a coarse hemp fiber. After ten or twelve days the fires are allowed to go out.

It is estimated that ninety million eggs are hatched each year in this way at Berme. The method employed has reached such a degree of perfection that many more than two-thirds of the eggs put in are successfully hatched.



The Baby Incubator.

It was not until 1824 that the incubator came into use in the modern world. Walthew constructed an incubator that could be used by farmers' wives for hatching chicks. It consisted of a metal box with a double wall. There were pipes connected with the kitchen boiler that opened into the walled space around the sides, bottom and top of the incubator. Into this space steam from the kitchen boiler passed. Ventilating holes and plugs into which thermometers were placed pierced the door, thereby affording a means of gauging the temperature.

This incubator has been improved upon from time to time, and has finally resulted in the invention of one incubator that is used for hatching chicks and another used for a very different purpose, for rearing babies who are too weak to survive under normal conditions or who are prematurely born. The baby incubator was constructed in 1880 by Dr. Tarnier and was first used at the Paris Maternity Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Judd and children Betty and Billy, of Muscatine, Iowa, drove thru from their home, arriving Monday evening, to visit for ten days with the former's mother, Mrs. L. T. Judd, 317 north Third-st.

Miss Nellie Adams, daughter of Fred Adams, of Fresno and Everett Linebaugh, of this city, were married Monday evening, in the Presbyterian parsonage at Fresno, by the pastor, Rev. Tarr.

For the occasion the bride selected an attractive frock of gray, with accessories to correspond.

Immediately following their marriage, Mr. Linebaugh and his bride left for a honeymoon trip thru the west.

The bride was graduated from the Keene high school with the class of 1924, and has many friends who will be interested in the news of her marriage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Linebaugh will go to housekeeping in Coshocton where the former is affiliated with the Farmers Exchange company.

At the November meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of the First Community church, held Monday evening in the church parlors, plans were made for the Delaware District Convention to be held in the local church on Thanksgiving Day and Night. About 100 delegates are expected to be here for the sessions.

The church interior is undergoing extensive re-decoration and it is planned to make this convention a decided success. The various committees to serve have been arranged as follows: entertainment, Mrs. Percy Ortt and Mrs. Lawrence Smith; food, Miss Winifred Slate, Miss Ellen Hosfelt and Miss Hattie Williams; welcome, Miss Evans and Mrs. Ward Porter; decoration, Jack Wolfe and Ebenezzer Evans; social, Miss Hattie Williams, Miss Cleo Wilden and Miss Ellen Hosfelt; music, Clifford McComber.

The society has also contracted for a lecture course for the winter months, the first number is the series to be given early in December.

Following the meeting an informal social hour was enjoyed, with games, music and refreshments provided for the guests.

Miss Mary Rue, 646 Chestnut-st, was hostess at the fortnightly meeting of the New Century club, held Monday evening, at her home.

Miss Helen O. Brown read her excellent paper — "Present Day Prominent English Women," preceding Mrs. W. W. March's well arranged paper — "Recreation as an Aid to Public Welfare."

The next meeting, on the evening of December 1, will be with Miss Mary Duncan, 203 south Fourth-st.

The Troy Singers and their Seven Syncopators, of Zanesville, will entertain at the Phi Kappa Delta dance, to be held Wednesday evening, in Red Mens hall.

This orchestra, which comes very highly recommended, makes its initial appearance in Coshocton at this time and many local dancers are anticipating splendid music.

W. E. Glading and Fred Gutwall, of Lorain, were week end holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilden, 1104 Kenilworth-av, returning home Monday.

The Go-Get-'Em class of the Methodist Protestant church will meet for its November session, Friday evening, at 7 o'clock, in the church parlors.

The election of officers will be an important feature of the business session.

Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Gray, 392 south Tenth-st, entertained the following guests at dinner, Sunday, in their home. Mr. and Mrs. William Fox and daughter Nettie, and Clint Muliett, of Blissfield, and E. G. Fox and son-in-law, Edward Hall, of Kenmore.

ANOTHER BARGAIN DAY FOR THE THRIFTY

Coshocton is known for its Bargain Day Sales. Perhaps in no other city in the United States have the merchants promoted such successful sales as Coshocton Bargain Day Sales. They are successful from the standpoint of the merchant, and they are successful from the standpoint of the patrons. We hope they will continue.

Coshocton's Bargain Day Carnival is guaranteed by the Coshocton Business Men's Association to be genuine. All merchandise offered during the two day sale to be a real bargain.

The thrifty bargain seekers can "spend" at least One Dollar in another way where they will receive Two Dollars value. The Home Bldg. Loan & Savings Company, at 416 Main Street during the two day sale will add One Dollar to each new savings account opened. Savings Accounts at "THE HOME" received 5 per cent. interest compounded every six months. You are also entitled to a little home savings safe which can be used for the accumulation of small amounts. We know at "THE HOME" that such a deposit will only be the beginning of a series of deposits that will be the means by which you may own your own home, or realize some other desire. The habit will grow and its value will become more and more evident.

canceled plans to go hunting in order that he might remain at home yesterday because of Mrs. Sheatsley's condition.

Late in the afternoon, he said, Mrs. Sheatsley was left alone for three hours while the minister went on an errand. When he returned, the odor of burning flesh led Rev. Sheatsley to the furnace, where he found the remains of his wife, including jewelry she was known to have been wearing.

Neighbors were immediately called in and the coroner summoned.

Authorities admittedly were baffled by the unusual circumstances surrounding the death.

Mrs. Sheatsley's mother and two brothers, Harry and Charles Sponseller, live in Canton.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, after which the body will be sent to Paris, O., for burial.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18.—By order of police authorities, Rev. C. V. Sheatsley and his four children, were called to police headquarters here today for questioning concerning the mystery surrounding the death of their wife and mother, whose charred body was found in the furnace in the basement of the Sheatsley home, Bexley, late Monday.

County Prosecutor King detailed a stenographer to attend the investigation at police headquarters with instructions to take a complete stenographic report of all questions put to Rev. Mr. Sheatsley and the children and to record in full their answers.

The order calling Rev. Mr. Sheatsley and his children to police headquarters was issued by Chief of Detectives Shellenberger whose department is cooperating with county authorities in making a thord probe into the mystery.

Call for World Labor Gathering Is Anticipated

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 18—Plans for strengthening the trade union movement all over the world occupied the chief attention of the delegates at the second session of the A. F. of L., here today.

In conference with labor representatives of Mexico, Great Britain Canada and Germany, American Federation leaders discussed plans for co-ordinating activities of international labor boards to work for the advancement of workers thruout the world.

Out of these conferences is expected to come a call for a world labor gathering, probably this winter, when a definite organization of European and American labor will be formed.

This is probably the last year that Samuel Gompers will see re-election as president of the federation. With an international labor organization an accomplished fact he would feel that his work was at an end and that the time had come for younger hands to guide American labor. This he has confided to friends.

Because of another joint meeting with the Mexican Federation of Labor, the American delegates were unable today to dispose of any important business. The session was devoted mainly to speeches and introduction of resolutions.

Blair Rules on Inspection of Income Returns

WASHINGTON Nov 18 —Special hours will be established for public inspection of income tax returns, Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair directed today.

In regulations concerning publicity dispatched to all collectors, Blair recommended that the list be opened for inspection only three days a week and three hours.

Blair reiterated his warnings to newspapers against the publications of returns, calling attention to provisions of the law prohibiting such publication.

While Blair was sending out his instructions Attorney General Stone was completing preparations for filing charges against newspapers for violation of the publication restriction. It was expected the action against newspapers would be filed shortly.

Great Men

IN his still well-known calendar of the world's great men, from the dawn of history down to about 1820, Auguste Comte included only 559 names. And to get this number he included such tiny stars as the American novelist, Fennimore Cooper, the English dramatist, Thomas Otway, and the Italian composer, Donizette.

That many men who might be called great are not recognized is one conclusion that may be drawn from this. Doubtless this is true today. The man who invented the typewriter has affected the lives of millions. Judged by the benefits he has conferred this inventor might well be called great. But how many know that the typewriter was devised by Christopher Lathan Sholes, a collector of customs at Milwaukee, in 1867?

That recognition of greatness is an accident is another conclusion to be drawn from the old list of the world's great men. Men are much alike, however greatly their achievements may vary. Greatness, one may conclude, is merely a label attached to a few who are little different from their fellows whom none calls great.

Education Week

THERE are so many "days" and "weeks" set apart for observance in connection with various causes and events that it is no easy matter to keep track of them. Happily, it is not necessary to do so, for there are always those to remind the public of what is afoot. This week is "American Education week," and as such it will no doubt be fittingly observed.

There is an abundance of education in this land, and it is true that from the start our people have set great store by it. That they are continuing to do this is proved by the general interest in the subject. At the present time, the chief anxiety seems to be not whether we shall educate, but whether we are educating wisely and effectively. This is a subject on which it is always possible to start a debate. We are spending billions of money for education, and what is being asked today is whether we are getting our money's worth.

It is a curious fact that at such a time as this, when all are talking about education, when the young people are thronging into our schools, colleges and universities, there should actually be a distrust of the educated man. That this is so can not be denied. It may be, therefore, that education is needed by the grown men and women. But we are making progress, and may be sure that in the future there will be little of this distrust of men who have been trained. Anyhow, we are educating, and doing so in increasing measure—and it is well.

One other thing may be suggested, and that is that the young people who emerge from college ought to hold fast to the truths they have learned, and never surrender them on the ground of expediency, as too many of them do. In other words, education should be moral and spiritual, as well as intellectual.

The President And Taxes

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has indicated repeatedly that he will insist on federal government expenditures being kept at a level that will make possible a further reduction in taxation. The success he has achieved with his economy program is reflected in the condition of the treasury, with forecasts of a probable surplus of $300,000,000 at the end of the current year. It is evident that decreased levies for the support of public undertakings can be brot about if there are no costly new ventures.

Congress will meet December 1 for the session which will expire by law on March 4, 1925. Within the space of three months it will be required to pass on bills for appropriations to conduct the government's business for the fiscal year, beginning July 1. While the budget system enables the work to be more expeditiously handled than formerly, it is not quickly done generally. The President, Secretary Mellon and others at Washington are trying to decide whether it will be best to ask members of the house and senate also to act on tax legislation or to leave the subject for the next congress.

Unofficially the impression is given that no attempt will be made to act at the short session. Secretary Mellon, after a conference with the President this week, said that in his judgment delay until after March 4 could be looked for. Senator Smoot seemed to be of the same opinion. Should the new congress not be called into special session, there would be no meeting until a year from the coming December. In the usual course of events there would be no action in taxation until some time in 1926. A mounting treasury surplus in the meantime might interfere with further efforts to bring federal expenditures to a lower level, as an excess in income always is an invitation to careless spending.

Circumstances, from the standpoint of the public, are adjusting themselves in favor of early action. If tax legislation be found impracticable at the coming short sessions, the indications are for a strong demand that a [illegible]g of the Sixty-ninth congress shall be called. There is plenty of vintage wine, a buffet repast that includes the most expensive tid-bits and if the crowd remains long enought they may have a breakkfast that can be equalled in only a few places in New York.

The latest victim to be plucked was a young California collegiate who had inherrited a half million. He thought he was getting in with the right crowd. Night after night he was plied with liquor and finally had to borrow enough money to get back home.

A little bit of Paris was transported to the block on West 51st street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues until cold weather came. This block has become a tea room district, and little sidewalk tables with bright colored umbrellas topping them were in front of each. Actors and actresses strolled there nightly to dine just as those from the Comedie Francaise go to their beloved Cafe de la Regence. Among the tea rooms on the block are the Double Door, Mary Warner Green Tree Inn, The Blue Plate, The Beacon Light and Suzanne's.

A little second-hand music store blooms on Forty Seventh street which is, as Bill Hogg remarked, about the size of a second-hand grave. There is just room for two customers at a time. Most of the stock is in the two windows. There are ukes, cornets, saxophones, concertinas, slide trombones and mandolins, but one instrument is missing. The place is not big enough to accommodate a bull fiddle.

One of New York's big bankers suddenly discovered he had the gift to paint. He attended an art school for a few weeks to amuse himself, but he became so enthralled he is going to give up his banking career and become a portrait painter. This winter he is taking his family to Paris to reside for two years. "I never realized before what little joy there is in money making," he says. That, however, is all right to say after you've made a pile of it.

Now that New York has the lowest taxicab rate in the world—the poor old cabbies face the hardest winter of their careers. They cannot reduce rates and live. The best they can make is around $20 a week if they have a good week. One told me he hadn't made more than $9 a week over expenses for a year.

Official Washington Turns Out in Force for Funeral of Gus Karger, Washington Correspondent from Cincinnati

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—With the president of the United States and a former president and chief justice, senators and members of the house in attendance, funeral services for Gus J. Karger, the most popular newspaper correspondent in Washington, were held today.

Honors that might have been paid to a distinguished statesman or foreign envoy, tributes that came from every section of Washington's official colony, marked the passing of a man who was perhaps known outside of his profession only to the people of a single city, Cincinnati, as the representative of the Times-Star but his influence was greater than any of his colleagues.

As the confidante of presidents, as the leader of the newspaper correspondents in its standard of ethics, particularly in relation to public men, Gus Karger might have had almost any office in the gift of a chief executive. But he declined political honors. He preferred the unofficial standing of a newspaper correspondent and inspired many of the younger men who came to Washington after he did with a zeal for similar service.

Nowadays Washington correspondents are of two classes, those who devote all their time to the interests of a single newspaper and make their reputations in a single city, usually the one in which they have been educated and trained and those who write for wider audiences. In Washington they stand on an equal footing and each has the same opportunity to win the rewards that his colleagues can bestow. Gus Karger was elected to every office that the newspaper corps can fill. He was their natural spokesman on all sorts of occasions. Possessed of a keen wit as well as a trenchant pen he was not only a first class reporter and one of the most foremost political workers in America, but his qualities of fellowship made him popular in the official circle. Presidents called him by his first name. Everybody respected his judgment and admired his personality. His struggle for life in the last few days was characteristic of his grit and courage. Even when his strength was failing to the vanishing point, he joked with his wife and family in the hope that he might diminish their worries. An operation for appendicitis and the removal of gall stones was the immediate cause of death following a strenuous trip in the west canvassing political sentiment during the campaign.

The closest friend that Gus Karger had was doubtless William Howard Taft. When the latter was president, Gus was at his elbow constantly. Being the representative of the Cincinnati newspaper owned by Charles P. Taft, Gus Karger was in a position to get exclusive information constantly. But he never capitalized that connection. Rather did he concern himself with the outgiving of news to all correspondents that would assist in making Mr. Taft better known to the country. As an adviser on politics as well as publicity, Gus was invaluable to President Taft.

Coming from Ohio, Gus Karger naturally formed an intimate acquaintance with the senator from his state, Warren G. Harding, and during the latter's term as president, Karger was not infrequently summoned to give advice on matters relating to the newspaper world. There were times, it is said, when the friends of other men mentioned for chief justice were active in presenting the merits of their candidates but Gus Karger was on the job day and night without the knowledge, of course, of Mr. Taft, but with every bit of persuasiveness at his command. And when Mr. Harding was inclined for some reason to postpone action it was Gus Karger who insisted that if the appointment was to be made it had better be made at once.

Gus Karger's greatest hero was Mr. Taft. He kept in close touch with him long after he left the White House, wrote him almost daily on affairs at Washington and loved him as a relative. Mr. Taft was a constant visitor at the Karger home.

The newspaper fraternity has lost one of its ablest men. Washington will miss his genial ways, his tact and resourcefulness in the controversies that inevitably spring up in the every day life of newspapermen in their battle against suppression of news. Gus Karger was a Republican conservative, a staunch follower of his party, but even Democrats will concede that no newspaperman won his way into their confidence as readily as did Gus Karger. Even President Wilson who was not given to joking with newspapermen very much, enjoyed the joshing questions frequently directed at him by Gus Karger in the semi-weekly newspaper conferences. Had he been a member of the cabinet or a member of the senate and house he might have had a national reputation. But he could not have endeared himself more to those who knew him here as a truly great Washington correspondent.

DEMANDS ON EDUCATION

Editor The Tribune:

Discussions are common these times concerning education, its efficiency, and its cost. By reason of the recent change in educational ideals and rise in costs, one does not wonder that such discussions arise. Some go so far as to say that we have too much education—that our system is wrong and not so good as the education of a generation ago. I understand that recently some organizations have gone on record approving the disorganizing of our county school systems. In view of such actions and discussions and in fairness to boys and girls I think the outstanding points of modern education should be discussed.

Before going further let me make clear that I am not making specific inference. In this paper I only wish to discuss the aims and ideals of our modern education in general. The working out of such ideals are in the hands of the people, and they have no right to fault the system because they have intrusted their school problems to those who are incapable. Democracy is a cherished ideal yet it has often been misused.

The difference of opinion concerning the efficiency of our modern education is due in the very beginning to a misunderstanding of its aims and ideals. The fellow who holds to the old school with its three r's has little understanding of the demands now laid at the door of education. Education must impart to the rising generation the ideals, the facts, the organized knowledge of which civilization consists. A person might be very proficient in reading, writing and arithmetic and yet lack the ideals and culture which would fit him for useful citizenship. Real education should give vision and appreciation. It should draw out and elaborate those qualities which make broad-minded men and women—and does modern education do this? To prove it let me mention the separate objectives.

First is health. There is an increasing recognition that education should have a responsibility for the health of the rising generation. Increasing attention is being given to instruction in hygiene, to physical culture and to medical inspection. Health games and contests are introduced which implant proper habits of eating, caring for the teeth, bathing, etc. Compare with this the study of physiology a generation ago. Some time ago I heard two teachers of the old school discussing physiology. They were rehearsing the different names for the spleen. One could give two names and the other three, yet I doubt if either were sold to typhoid or diphtheria vaccination.

Second is the vocational. Everywhere are we growing to the realization that the public should offer vocational training in school. The larger school units are doing this with great success but the smaller schools limit their efforts to vocational guidance. The study of occupations is now a required study in all high schools. By the study of the different occupations young people can enter upon a vocation thru choice based upon a knowledge of its demands and possibilities. Some schools catalog the traits of each pupil. From the time they enter school until they leave or graduate each teacher puts down their estimate as to traits. When the pupil is ready to go out into life this information is available and should influence his choice of work. Modern education is attempting to study the individual and if possible eliminate the misfits. The public school can and is doing a great work in mobilizing the separate individual resources and placing "square pegs in square holes."

We also have the "opportunity school" for those who cannot, by reason of inferior mental ability, profitably pursue regular school work. These unfortunate folks are here given an opportunity to learn some manual work which might make them independent and thus take from the shoulders of society the burden of their care.

The third objective is training for citizenship. The study of civics, economics, sociology and history are now being taught with the aim of preparing boys and girls to live and take part in a great democracy. The social sciences are receiving increasing attention. Instead of spending useless time upon unimportant dates and the maneuvers of armies we are studying history or rather interpreting it from the standpoint of social and economic progress.

The next objective is culture. The study of the arts and sciences whereby life can be enriched. The person who can put art and science into his every day life, who knows how to beautify the common things which he uses, who has abundant resources for wholesome recreation and especially who understands the signs of the times in which he lives is the truly cultured person. In such minds Bolshevism and religous bigotry can hardly find a place to grow. For a specific illustration think of Mexico. Why does her democracy have its upheavals and revolutions? Simply because her masses lack intellectual and moral stability which come by culture.

Other objectives might be mentioned, especially discipline, but space will not permit their further discussion. What can you find in the aims and ideals of our more modern education which is not practical. Education has done nothing more than keep up with the times and perhaps not always has it accomplished that. Upon every side do we meet educational pre-requisites and the youth who is deprived of this advantage is handicapped. The study of any profession has educational requirements. The study of law, medicine, engineering, etc., was open to the youth with a common school education a generation ago. Today he meets a different situation. Even industry sets educational pre-requisites for most of their employees. The future is certain to make still greater demands, and at the door of the school is laid the problem of meeting them. The trend of the times is onward. Competition and complexity grow greater. Mechanical skill and science is fast taking the place of brawn and muscle. So as a nation, as a state and as a community we must hold our step in education

CRIME BOOKS

The wondrous fascination of crime is manifest in books that swamp the nation—their printers never rest. Time was when novels gory were looked upon as trash; the boy who read a story of crime would feel the lash. The authors who were handing out yarns of people killed possessed no decent standing in any writers' guild. But we have progressed further than had our dads, I guess, and tales of bloody murther come reeking from the press. And not by outcast blighters are all these stories writ, but grave and stately writers drip blood and make a hit. They seem to strike their true gait in these ferocious times; from chronicles of Newgate they dig forgotten crimes. They interview the warden of every gloomy pen, and poor old Lizzie Borden is featured once again; the hangman has his inning, at last he's wearing bells, and with a smile that's winning his grisly tale he tells. With bones in mildewed baskets our authors come, in crowds; they're rifling ancient caskets and pawing mildewed shrouds. To make the sad world gayer, and grab unpleasant gain, they resurrect the slayer and disinter the slain. The old historic killers come grinning from the tomb, and we are swamped with thrillers that deal in blood and doom. And it is sad that writers who might be penning tracts must hand us tales of fighters and gore in cataracts.

Low Body Blows Halt Greb But He Wins Fight

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov 18.—Harry Greb, who was forced to halt from two alleged low punches, one in the first round, another in the second, fought the scheduled ten rounds with Jim Delaney, of St. Paul and won the unprejudiced and popular decision, at Motor Square Garden. Greb set a precedent in fighting when he hit low and writhing in pain in the first round, took a short rest and continued fighting. Three minutes later Greb received another unintentional blow but continued fighting and romped all around the western light heavyweight of whom it is said Mike Gibbons was building hope of making a middleweight championship.

NEW YORK LIKELY TO LOSE STANDING IN BOXING WORLD

By DAVID J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov 18.—Unless a decided change for the better takes place here in the immediate future, the capital of American boxing is likely to be moved, per se, from New York to San Francisco or Los Angeles, just as soon as the new California law become effective.

New York boxing has degenerated from a big time business to a tent show during the last nine months, and judging from the type of bouts being offered and the almost chronic inadequacy of the receipts the condition is becoming permanent.

Even Tex Rickard open handed to a fault in the boom days, seems to have drawn the purse string taut and Madison Square Garden now plays host to the second rates where once it dallied only with headliners. The Garden hasn't produced a bout of national importance since opening its doors for the present season, and only for the fact that the Christmas fund show has signed Tom Gibbons to meet a leading light heavyweight next month, there would be nothing whatever in prospect.

In the old days the Garden never made big money altho it drew millions at the turnstiles. Today, it is fortunate if it breaks even on a show. Seemingly, the New York fan has wearied of top prices and will not support his champions in the style to which they are accustomed. Neither will he support the small timers. He seems to want the champions at a price commensurate with his desire to eat for the rest of the week.

Various shows conducted at the Garden this season have produced less than 5,000 paid admissions and in consequence, have failed to pay expenses. Others have broken even or shown a profit too small to be considered worthy of attention. The garden might as well close its doors for all the good it is doing Rickard at the moment.

The answer? It calls for moderation of the demands of champions and near champions, now lying idle because none will meet their price. They are waiting for the harvest season of the great outdoors but they will wait in vain if the 1924 returns are a criterion New York boxing staked itself to its worst outdoor season this year since the inception of the Walker law. If that fact doesn't convince the big timers that the money no longer is there, they are beyond sympathy.

It seems to the writer that California couldn't have selected a more propitious moment to launch a new era of boxing. The game needs a change of scene where the novelty of the thing will counterbalance any lack of championship calibre. Boxers appearing on the coast will either fight or get out of the ring and it is not incredible that under these conditions the sundown slope may be producing the majority of title contenders within a year or so.

By that time, champions now using the east as a happy hunting ground might be ready to listen to reason, provided they had not already done so. Eastern boxing then could resume its normal pace and possibly the pendulum would swing back in this direction but never permanently. California will be an abiding factor in national affairs of the fist as long as its new law remains in effect.

DR. HUMPHREYS' "77" BEST FOR COLDS GRIP INFLUENZA

Wesleyan and Oberlin Will Probably Tie

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—On Saturday the Ohio University gridiron exponents meet Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware in the season finals for both teams.

Oberlin has finished its season, having played and won all eight Ohio Conference games, while the Delaware opponents have a clear record in their four contests. Unless the Green and White, by some strange miracle can defeat Coach Gauthier's troupe, Wesleyan and Oberlin will be tied for the championship. However, if that same fate which has been so active this year in upsetting the dope, is functioning this week end, then Oberlin—ergo, the thot waves of encouragement.

For Ohio to defeat Wesleyan would be the strangest upset of them all, since the Athenians have had a miserable season, while the Methodist in addition to winning their quartet of league games, including the defeat in the last quarter of the splendid Wittenberg eleven, went out of their pre-ordained class and conquered University of Detroit and also Butler. The latter triumph was the sweetest because of Butler's excellent showing against several Western Conference teams.

The Delaware crowd have repeatedly been mentioned as the next possible addition to the Big Ten and this year's record has shown Wesleyan to a good advantage, should that conference be increased—an exceedingly doubtful proposition.

Given a dose of its own medicine, that of a surprise victory, Case emerged from the Baldwin-Wallace catastrophe, with the coming Western Reserve game in view and a victory over the Pioneers as the only solace. It's been years since Case has been able to wallop its next door neighbor. For the past decade, the Scientist teams have gone to battle so under-doggily that the only question was that of the score. This year, the Brown and White are at least the equals of Reserve.

Perhaps, another fact might bode a Case win. Since this time honored struggle has existed, it has always taken place on Thanksgiving day. This year, it has been changed, for Reserve meets Case at Cleveland a week from Thursday. It may be that getting away from the old date, may encourage the Fletcherites to get away from the old habit of losing this annual classic.

The Red and White have a superior line, while the Scientists have a better backfield. With Captain Gribben back in the game, Case will get the edge in the kicking and probably the passing, but the weakness of the Case ends, may enable Holtcamp's re vamped backfield to get away to long gains and possible victory.

Wooster and Denison hook up at Granville and altho Denison has "come back" in marvelous style, it is doubtful whether the Big Red can hold back the drive of the Presbyterians. Against Cincinnati, the Boles backfield smashed thru in old time form. It scored as many points against the Bear Cats, as all the other three opponents earlier in the season.

At Tiffin, the Heidelberg eleven which has been playing smart football all year, shouldn't have any trouble in disposing of Hiram and the Cherry and Blue Slate will be clean of victories. Heidelberg has been showing more class each game and the 14-14 tie with Ohio Northern, last Friday marked the Tiffinites as a nice eleven.

St. Xavier meets Otterbein at Cincinnati in the second conference game for the Saints. The first was the 39-14 defeat suffered at the hands of Ohio Wesleyan. Since then they have progressed and unless the Westerville crew shows more strength than expected, the Catholics will split even on the Ohio Conference contests.

Having risen to its heights in the defeat of Case, the Baldwin-Wallace warriors are thirsting for more blood. They oppose Kenyon at Gambier in the season's finale and will meet a forward passing attack that may shove them back in the rut of losses. The Episcopalians have been in-and-outers all year but have always held the aerial threat as a constant danger. If the Bereans can counter this, chalk up another win for Baldwin-Wallace.

Ohio Northern should conclude the season with a three win-two loss record after Saturday's game with Muskingum at Ada. The Norsemen, starting the season brilliantly, have fizzled of late, but are due for a sudden comeback. If it is to occur this year, it must of necessity be against the Muskies and it will take a crashing victory to conclude Captain Kerchner's football years in the deserved glory.

Fulton Knocked Out in Minute; Fans Cry 'Fake!'

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov 18.—Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight title contender, was holder today of a one-minute knockout over Fred Fulton, plasterer of Minnesota.

Fulton did not do any plastering at all against Fuente, and spent one half the time the bout lasted on the canvas.

Fuente started the fight by charging into a neutral corner and then dashing into Fulton from the side with a chop to the jaw. Fulton took a count of nine and once again Fuente connected with the plasterer's huge chin and Fulton whiled away with nine more seconds.

Another right, this time in the direction of the mid-riff and Fulton rolled over and the referee tolled him out.

As Fulton groaned on the floor the fans shrieked cries of "Fake! Fake!" and cushions and pop bottles whizzed down upon Fulton. None of Fuente's blows had the semblance of registering the terrific punishment Fulton appeared to be suffering.

Governors Hold Meet in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 18—The state governors of the nation entered the second day of their sixteenth annual conference here today with a determination to conclude all business of the conference before noon.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon practically the entire party of sixteen governors, three governors-elect, 11 woman visitors, Governor Hardee's official staff of entertainers and the governor's aides, will set sail up the St. Johns river for Sanford. Arriving there in the morning they will thence pass thru the citrus belt and on into Tampa.

From Tampa, the visitors will be taken across the Everglades where the vast drainage projects under way there by the state will be pointed out to them. They will pass on thru Lakeland to West Palm Beach and thence to Miami, where the party will disband next Monday morning.

"Preventing grade crossing automobile accidents," and "safeguarding the highways," were the chief subjects for round table discussion of today's program. The former discussion was led by Governor Brauch, of Indiana, and the latter by Governor Cox of Massachusetts.

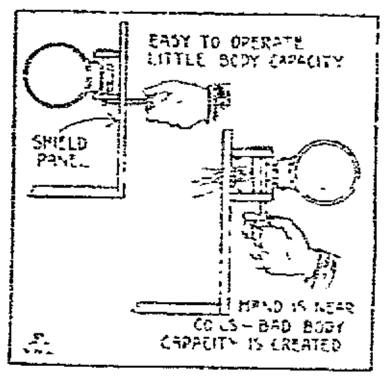
MOUNT COILS ON REAR OF PANEL

Eliminates Body Capacity and Presents Better Appearance

By Carlton E. Butler, A.M.I.R.E.

In assembling a three honeycomb coil circuit you may be at a loss as to the best place to mount the coil holder. There are a number of methods of mounting the coil holder, the two most common ones being on the front and on the rear of the panel. Sometimes the coils are used independently of the set and are placed on a stand that can be moved around.

In the front panel method it will be easy to remove one coil and try another but the disadvantage will be that the coils will be in sight and that they will be close to your body and therefore suffer from body capacity. It is often difficult to reach the knob that turns the coil without placing the hand very near to the coils.



The coils can be placed inside of the panel where they will be out of sight and out of the road. The knobs then can be operated with out interference from the coils and a shield can be placed back of the panel to eliminate body capacity.

[illegible] Whenever coils need to be replaced you will have to lift up the lid of the cabinet. It may be necessary to lengthen the rod from the knob to the gear that turns the [illegible] you secure the [illegible] panel mounting type of coil holder.

You probably know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world.

Because it contains more Vitamines than any food you can get.

You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar-coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of real healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong as Wimmer-Arnold Co., Siegrist & Williams, Page & Lorenz or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your druggist will hand you back the money you paid for them.

It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain 15 pounds in 30 days.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

Gargle Throat with Aspirin

Clip This and Save if Subject to Sore Throat or Tonsilitis

Prepare a harmless and effective gargle by dissolving two Bayer Tablets of Aspirin in four tablespoonfuls of water. Gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Tablets of Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets for few cents.

Lacking Ambition You're a Dead One

Nervous Folks Warned

To the man with an honest ambition success must come—it can not long hide itself. Without ambition no lasting success is possible.

To get rid of the body impurities that cause loss of confidence and courage; that bring dullness to brain and eye that make you backward, retiring and worn out do this today.

Get a package of 72 Lifetone Tablets at Wimmer-Arnold Co. or any live druggist for $1.00. Take 3 a day as directed for 21 days—then if you don't feel stronger, more vigorous, robust, forceful and ambitious get your money back.

Lifetone tablets give men and women ambition.

With ambition failure is next to impossible. 72 tablets $1.00. Mail orders filled by Carey Medical Corp., Elmira, N. Y.

45 Turkeys Are Given at Shoot

The annual home town turkey shoot held recently on the Walhonding gun club grounds was a big success. Many shooters from surrounding counties participated.

Forty-five turkeys were distributed as prizes. Dan Meek was awarded one of the big turkeys. Among the successful shooters were: Dile, of Gambier; Jackson, of Mt. Vernon; Sprague, of Coshocton; Garrison, of Utica; Vail, of Mt. Gilead; Carson, of Dennison; Deal, of Canton; Sellers, of Danville; Ripley, of Uhrichsville.

A supper and entertainment held in the town hall that evening was enjoyed by the shooters.

Railroads Break Seven Records This Year in Handling U. S. Freight

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—In successfully handling this year without car shortage or congestion the enormous freight traffic in the county the American railroads completely shattered seven of their best previous records of this year, according to the report of the car service division of The American Railway Association submitted at a meeting here today of the board of directors of that association.

Since January first, the report said, the railroads have recorded the heaviest loadings of commodities in box cars of any similar period on record. All previous grain loading records were broken on virtually all western lines, as also were the receipts at terminal markets. There has been no accumulation of traffic or congestion during 1924, chargeable to railroad disability and no general orders requiring a movement of cars in volume from one section of the country to another.

The report paid a tribute to the successful activities of the various shippers' regional advisory boards which have been organized in all parts of the country and made up of a membership representing all phases of agricultural production. It also mentions as an important contributing factor the additions to railroad plants and equipment and the speeding up of freight movements due to greater efficiency in opration.

Here is a list of the seven new high records in freight transportation hung up by the railroad this year.

1—Greatest number of cars for any one week in history were loaded with revenue freight the week of October 25 total 1,112,315 cars

2—The railroads for the week of October 25, loaded 72,474 cars with grain products, the highest on record.

3—Loadings of merchandise and less than carload lot freight totalled 259,617 cars the week of October 11, the highest on record.

4—Miscellaneous freight loadings broke records in the week of October 25, with a total of 422,829 cars

5—On Wednesday, October 15 the railroads moved 1,030,211 freight cars loaded and empty, the largest in the history of transportation

6—High record for surplus freight cars and serviceable locomotives was made this year, when loading of revenue freight was in excess of one million cars a week.

7—Loading of 31,700,879 cars with all commodities between January 1, and October 25, this year, exceeds by 363,152, or 11 per cent the best previous record, established in 1923

In respect to new equipment the report says that carriers during the first nine months of 1924 installed 120,724 freight cars of a total of 318,602 since January 1, 1923, while 1,654 locomotives were placed in service during the nine months are 5,671 in the past 21 months.

INDEPENDENCE, Cal., Nov 18—Warrants for the first men who Sunday seized the flood gates of the Los Angeles aqueduct may be issued today, officials of Inyo-co declared. The raiders have refused to obey the injunction ordering them from the aqueduct and if they continue to defy the law their arrests will be ordered, it was declared by the authorities

Unknown Man's Body Is Found

COLUMBUS Nov 18 — The frozen, lifeless body of an unknown man was found today on the east bank of the Olentangy river near here. John Jones, colored, found the body beside what was left of a fire. Close by were a coffee pot and an empty alcohol bottle

FERTILIZERS PAY BEST ON POOR LAND

Larger increases in crops may be expected from the use of fertilizers and manure on thin land than from their use on richer soils. This is shown by the crop yields on unfertilized and fertilized land on the fourteen farms of the Ohio Experiment Station, in different parts of the State

On one tract of land at Wooster where the crops on untreated plots have had an annual value of only [illegible] acid phosphate alone increased the value to [illegible]; a complete fertilizer to [illegible], and manure and acid phosphate to [illegible] per acre. On better land on which the untreated crops had a value of [illegible] acid phosphate alone increased the yield to [illegible]. These were larger yields than on the poor land but smaller increase for the use of complete fertilizer and manure

Of the fourteen farms the Clermont farm has given the lowest untreated yields, [illegible] per acre. On this farm acid phosphate increased the yield to [illegible], a complete fertilizer to [illegible], and manure and acid phosphate to [illegible]

On the fertile soil of the Paulding County farm where the unfertilized yields were valued at $34.50 per acre, acid phosphate increased the yield to $35.4[illegible], a complete fertilizer to $37.4[illegible] and manure and acid phosphate to [illegible]. While fertilizers and manure on this rich new soil increased the yields they were not used at a profit as on the older thinner land of the other farms

ARGENTINE MERCHANTS DECRY FOREIGN LABELS

BUENOS AIRES Nov 18 — An industrial exhibition to show the progress attained in manufactures in Argentina, and with the hope of discouraging the practice of putting foreign labels on Argentine made gods, will be held in Buenos Aires in December

The organizatizers expect to demonstrate the superiority of many Argentine manufactured goods over similar foreign products and that there is no necessity of pretending they are imported in order to make them salable

LESSON NO. 9
LIGHTING THE HALLS AND STAIRS

The main hall, where we welcome our guests, may be large or it may be small, but probably nothing will light it as well as an attractive ceiling fixture equipped with a total of from 50 to 100 watts of lamp bulbs.

If the hall is large enough, we may add a pair of bracket fixtures on the wall at either side of a pretty mirror, or we may use a small table lamp, or candlesticks on a console table. When we do this, the lights should be well shaded, of course, and not too bright. Economy suggests the use of 15 or 25-watt bulbs

Upstairs halls or long private halls are usually best lighted with small ceiling fixtures equipped with 25 or 50-watt bulbs. In many homes, however, bracket fixtures may be used on the walls to give satisfactory lighting. When the house is wired, the lights in the halls shoulld be put in so that they may be lighted from either upstairs or downstairs.

The lighting fixtures in the halls ought to be placed so that they will light the stairway as well as the hall. In large homes where the stairs turn or where there is a landing half way up, it may be advisable to install a small fixture at the turn to be sure the stairs are well lighted.

LIGHTING THE OUTSIDE OF THE HOUSE

Many homes that are being built now have a duplex convenience outlet installed on the porch so that portable lamps may be used to make an outdoor living room in pleasant weather.

In every home some lighting is needed at the main entrance and other doorways for convenience and safety at night. Lanterns of weatherproof metal are commonly used either as bracket or ceiling fixtures.

The driveway to the garage will need some light, perhaps from a fixture attached to the outside of the house. The lighting inside the garage should be installed so that it may be lighted from either the house or the garage. In more elaborate homes the gateway and drive may be equipped with ornamental lanterns or posts.

For outdoor fixtures a 50-watt bulb will usually be large enough. However, if a large space is to be lighted, as much as 100 watts may be needed.

PROPER WIRING

Hidden in the walls of a home are the wires that permit us to enjoy the comforts of electric service. They are out of sight and we never think about them, but they are very important for they may limit our ability to use electricity for lighting and for appliances conveniently.

Every year we add something to the electric equipment in the home. Perhaps this year it is a new table lamp, last year it may have been a wash machine or a toaster, next year it may be a fan or a curling iron. Five years ago when the house was wired, we did not plan for these new things, and now we remove a lamp bulb to connect one of them, thus depriving ourselves of needed light and spoiling the appearance of the room by the unsightly cord which dangles from the socket.

The wiring in most homes can be made to give greater service today by the addition of convenience outlets (usually the duplex type, which permits two things to be connected to one outlet). In general, we need one of these for each fifty square feet of floor in the room. These may be placed in the wall near the floor or at a height of three or four feet above the floor to save bending over when we connect an appliance. Another feature of the properly wired home is a wall switch to control each of the principal lighting fixtures.

As a protection against accident, the main switch, which controls all the lights in the house, and the fuses should be in a modern metal box so designed that there can be no possibility of an electric shock.

Every householder is interested in these devices for comfort and convenience in the use of electric service, but he should not attempt to make changes in the wiring of the house without the services of a competent electrician who understands the precautions which must be taken for safety. There are specific rules in every city designed for the protection of the public and all changes in wiring must be made according to these rules.

LIBERAL FEEDING DAIRY COWS PAYS

Increasing the feed of dairy cows at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station not only increased the annual production but added a neat sum to the net profits

Under good average feeding, such as is practical on many dairy farms, 23 cows gave an average annual production of 8 198 pounds of milk and 335 pounds of butterfat. The same cows during the year of heavier feeding averaged 13 548 pounds of milk and 568 pounds of fat; or an increase of 65 per cent in milk and 69 per cent in butterfat.

On the ordinary ration the feed requirement for each pound of butterfat was 15.5 units, costing 27.1 cents. On the heavy ration the requirement was only 13.7 units costing 24.1 cents

The feed cost, to say nothing of the extra labor and investment for a given production was 12 per cent greater for the ordinary ration than for the very 'liberal' ration.

NEW WHITE GRAPES OF GREAT PROMISE

The Portland and Brocton are most promising new white grapes in the variety vineyard at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. These varieties are of recent introduction and are being carefully compared with more than a hundred other varieties in the experimental plots

W. F. Rofkar, assistant horticulturist at the Station says, "Portland is the earliest ripening variety in the vineyard. The fruit is of excellent quality for an early grape. The ripening season is long. An attractive yellowish white color is developed in the fruit at full ripeness. The bunches are usually long but loosely filled.

"Brocton ripens before the Concord. The berries are of medium size, juicy, and have a pleasing aromatic flavor. In quality the Brocton can be safely placed among the very best white grapes. The bunches are medium to large and well-filled, and the vines are moderately vigorous."
